SENATE PROBE HAS FAILED TO FIND AN "INSIDIOUS" LOBBY

One-Fifth of Senators Have Testified and No Improper Means of Securing Legislation Has Been Unearthed

PROBE TO CONTINUE THROUGHOUT WEEK

First Day's Inquiry Fails to Locate "the Lobby" and No Evidence Has Shown Where Money Has Been Received

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Senator Penrose told the special sneate committee hunting for "the lobby," that in his sixteen years' experience in Washington he had never known of attempts to improperly influence members of congress. He gave the names of 175 persons who had called on him since January 1 on the tariff, but declared that none were "lobbyists" in the general acceptation of the term.

"It's well known that certain interests have agents here," said the senator, "and I suppose they are paid salaries. They evidently get information for their organizations. Their work is perfectly legitimate. I have seen Mr. Burgess for the pottery interests here for years, and Mr. Brown for the cotton people. Their work is perfectly legitimate as far as I know. My own opinion is that the lobbyist is principally a thing of the past. Congressional committees pay little attention to them now."

Senator Penrose thought that probably Winthrop Marvin, of Boston, represented "the wool people" in Washington, and Senator Reed was insistent to learn if Marvin ever had anything to do with fixing the tariff on wool, or Brown with the cotton tariff? Senator Penrose insisted the men did nothing more than present arguments to senators and representatives, and that neither had anything to do with making the rates of the Payne law.

Senator Reed developed on cross-examination, however, that Marvin at one time was secretary of a joint congressional committee to investigate the merchant marine.

Senator Penrose was the liveliest witness of the morning session. Other senators testified they knew of no undue influences operating against their personal interests. The list of 175 names which Mr. Penrose gave the committee included manufacturers, labor leaders, attorneys, importers and others who feared they would be affected by tariff changes.

Senator Penrose estimated that about 40 per cent as many persons had come to Washington on tariff business this year as compared with four years ago.

Senator Gronna testified he was interested in farming, and knew of no lobbying. He never had been approached improperly regarding any legislation.

"I don't believe there is any such thing as corrupt action going on at either end of the capitol," he declared.

NO LOBBY FOUND.

The second day of the senate probe for "the lobby" bears out the approximately one-fifth of the total number of senators disposed of.

Working with morning, afternoon and night sessions, members of the subcommittee taking the testimony were confident today they would finish this week.

Senator Brady, one of the new members, had not finished his testimony when the investigators tsopped last night and he was ready to proceed today. The first day's inquiry had not definitely located "the lobby" nor developed the names of any "lobbyists" using improper methods, in the opinion of senators, to influence their action on the tariff.

Senator McLean was called as the first witness today. He testified he was a small stockholder in several corporations, but he had never sought to influence senators because of his interests. He gave a list of various callers who discussed the tariff with him, but he considered none of them lobbyists.

Senator Dillingham testified he had no financial interest in any business affected by the tariff or other legislation, and represented no one who had. He would not remember the names of persons who had talked with him except a Mr. Ullman, of New York, who urged that no duty be put on green furs. He knew of no duty on the use of money to affect legislation.

FLETCHER'S TESTIMONY.

Senator Fletcher gave among the names of his visitors C. P. Huntington, of Chicago and Tampa, in regard to the Havana cigars; G. Harold Powell, representing California citrus fruit interests, and a Mr. aDvis, of Colorado and Florida, concerning beet sugar business.

Senator Fall testified he was a large owner of cattle, horses, sheep and coal. He gave the names of cattlemen who had visited him in the interest of health restrictions on the importation of meat and omcials of a wool growers' association urging duties on wool.

Under cross-examination Senator Fall said a Mr. Bush, of Colorado, who he believed was interested in the zinc trust, had talked to him.

"His attitude was one of indifference," explained Senator Fall. "He was not a lobbyist, honest or dishonest."

PENROSE'S HOLDINGS.

Senator Penrose testified he had no interest in anything affected by the tariff, except as a stockholder in the United States Sugar and Land company, at Garden City, Kan.

"This company has never been a success," he said, "even under a protective tariff, and either is, or soon will be, in the hands of a receiver."

Senator Penrose gave the committee a list of 175 persons who had called upon him on the tariff since January 1.

FINANCE COMMITTEE DECIDES BOND ISSUE IS ONLY SALVATION

City Cannot, on Its Present Resources, Progress Any Further on Absolutely Necessary Improvements

SEVERAL MILLION NEEDED TO MEET THE SITUATION

Many New Schools Must Be Built, Better Streets Are Imperative, and All Other Departments Have Needs

The council finance committee has come to the conclusion that the city of Atlanta on its present resources can progress no further with public improvements and will, therefore, recommend to council that steps be taken looking to a bond issue.

The committee was hastened to this conclusion by the situation which has resulted from the supreme court's decision in the crematory matter.

After thoroughly canvassing the city's financial status Tuesday morning to find the $135,000 additional cash necessary to buy the crematiry and pay the whole amount of the purchase price in 1913, the committee by a unanimous vote instructed the chairman and the city attorney to draw a bond issue resolution, and the same will be submitted to council Thursday afternoon with a recommendation that it be passed.

The committee found the crematory money, all right. The finding process consisted of taking the money away from other improvements and appropriating it to the crematory instead—this, as every one knew in advance, being the only way the committee could find it.

WHERE MONEY WAS "FOUND."

The committee took the following amounts from the following improvements:

From nurses' dormitory at Grady hospital, $25,000; from Forsyth street underpass, $2,000; from bridge repairs, $3,500; from Cherokee avenue widening and paving, $5,000; from White Way extension on East Hunter and North Pryor streets, $2,500; from Eighth ward engine house, $10,000; from Flat Shoals road paving, $2,500; from Glenn street underpass, $6,739; from West Peachtree re-grading, $2,000.

On the income side of the sheet the committee added two items, to wit: Water receipts are increased $2,553.88 and general taxes are increased $4,000, making a total of $7,553.88. This added to the total deductions from other improvements, produced a total of $68,023.88.

SURPLUS OF $71,000.

To this total the committee added a surplus of something like $71,000, which was otherwise unexpended and, therefore, available to be appropriated in the June budget, and thus arrived at a grand total of $139,023.88, which is a few thousand more than the $135,000 necessary for the crematory.

Three new appropriations the committee made, as follows: To purchase Dargan park in West End, $7,500; to purchase automobile patrol for police department, $1,400; to start penny lunches in the school department, $250.

And this is all, down to the very bones, so far as the city's financial goose is concerned. The city "cuts two sesse" each year—one in January and one in June. After that there is no *more except the transfer of minor bal*ances in October for the purpose of tiding through the year.

OTHER PRESSING NEEDS.

Staring the committee in the face after they had thus raked and scraped and sacrificed in order to pay cash for the crematory, was a great pack of requests for improvements which not only are needed, but are imperative. In other words, improvements that are simply obliged to be made. Many of them have been pending for years, being put off from one year to another. None of them, in fact, is now comparatively speaking. Increased school facilities loom large on the list, some of the new schools needed being as follows:

Davis street school, to serve the First and Fifth wards, which will cost $60,000; new school in Battle Hill, Seventh ward, which will cost $60,000; new school in Eighth ward, which will cost $60,000; new school in East Atlanta, Ninth ward, which will cost $60,000; new school in Tenth ward, which will cost $60,000; total, $300,000. Also, new Girls' High school, which will cost $200,000 at least. New English commercial school, which will cost $75,000, or somewhat less if a university high school be built for girls, and the commercial branch made a part of it. New Boys' High school, which will cost $200,000, together with a new Tech High school. And on top of these, several new

ATTORNEY RETAINED FOR NEGRO SERVANT AT FRANK'S HOME

George Gordon Represents Minola McKnight as Attorney and May Seek Habeas Corpus During Afternoon

NEGRESS DECLARES HER HUSBAND HAS LIED

She Swears Leo M. Frank Was at Home at Time He Testified Before the Coroner's Inquest

It became known Tuesday morning that Attorney George Gordon had been retained to represent Minola McKnight, the negro cook employed by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Selig, parents-in-law of Leo M. Frank, held for the murder of Mary Phagan.

Who employed the lawyer could not be learned, but the fact remains that Mr. Gordon is representing the negress, whose arrest Monday by city detectives, followed a questioning by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey.

It is also understood on good authority that Mr. Gordon is seriously considering the matter of seeking a writ of habeas corpus for the McKnight woman and further developments along this line are expected during the afternoon.

WOMAN QUESTIONED.

Shortly after noon Tuesday the McKnight woman was taken from her cell on the first floor at police headquarters by Detectives tSarnes and Sampbell, who led her to a private room adjoining the detective department on the third floor. Two unknown white men and a negro man, supposed to be the woman's husband, were left alone with her for about an hour and a half, when the detectives were called in.

After talking with the woman for a few minutes Detective Starnes came out of the room, gathered up a pen, ink and paper and went back. It is presumed that she has made some kind of a statement which the detectives consider significant and which they desire to take down in the form of an affidavit.

Attorney George Gordon was outside in the detective department for a portion of the time the woman was being questioned.

The hysteria which marked her demeanor when she first was arrested, has subsided, and Minola McKnight, the negro cook for Mr. and Mrs. Emil Selig, of 68 East Georgia avenue, home of Leo M. Frank, still sticks to the story she has practically shouted throughout police headquarters Monday afternoon.

The negress was arrested at the Selig residence shortly after noon Monday upon the order of Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey.

She was carried to the solicitor's office and that official with Detectives Campbell and Starnes examined her for more than an hour. The woman grew hysterical during the vigorous examination, and finally was led from the solicitor's office to the police patrol, where she screamed: "I am going to hang and don't know a thing about it."

Later it developed that he woman's husband, Albert McKnight, had been in the room with the officers.

The husband, it is said, reported to the police officials that Minola told him that Mr. Frank returned to the Selig residence about noon of the Saturday Mary Phagan was murdered and went back to the office at 1 p. m. The husband further quotes his wife as saying that on the Sunday morning after the tragedy Mrs. Frank complained that she did not sleep during the night because of the nervousness of Mr. Frank.

Albert McKnight, in the room with the solicitor and the two detectives, is said to have attempted to induce his wife to "beat the statements which he claimed she had made to him. She refused, however, calling her husband a liar, and saying that she never made any statements faintly resembling those attributed to her.

At variance with the allegations of her husband, the negress declares that Frank arrived at the residence on the Saturday of the tragedy about 1:20 or 1:30 o'clock; that he ate his luncheon and then lay down on a couch in one of the rooms. He went downtown later, 7:45 or 8 o'clock, returning about 9:30 o'clock. She says that she is certain that he was at the residence at about 7:45 or 8 o'clock that evening, for at that time he gave her a week's wages, five $1 bills, and she left the Selig residence for her own home in the rear of 351 Pulliam street.

Minola declares that she will stick to her story despite the efforts of her husband to induce her to change it.

Minola declares that some time ago she had a fuss with her husband, and this quarrel, she avers, must have led him to tell the police "lies" about her.

During the first hours of her incarceration the cook shouted continually that she was going to hang, although innocent; and frequently she shouted, too, that Frank is innocent.

AN OVERTURNED LANTERN.

Three feet from the bodies of the two women was an overturned lantern. Beneath the body of Mrs. Stevens was some melted glass and metal, which might have been part of a vase or a lamp.

The door to Mrs. Stevens' room was locked, judging by the locks and keys picked up among the ashes, locked on the inside, leading to the theory that the murderer, if murderer there was, must have struck or fired through the window.

In the ruins was found a 38 pistol shell. The only pistol the Stevens has was taken to Chattanooga by Wade Stevens, he says, and there pawned. It was a 32. Yet the 38 shell may have lain beneath the house for years.

The mystery of Mrs. Stevens' missing jewelry has been cleared also by Wade Stevens, who declares that he pawned this jewelry several months ago. If robbery was the motive of the alleged murderers why did they not take the netted purse and the melted change belonging to Mrs. Stevens found in the ruins of the fire? Why did they not take the bank found in the ruins

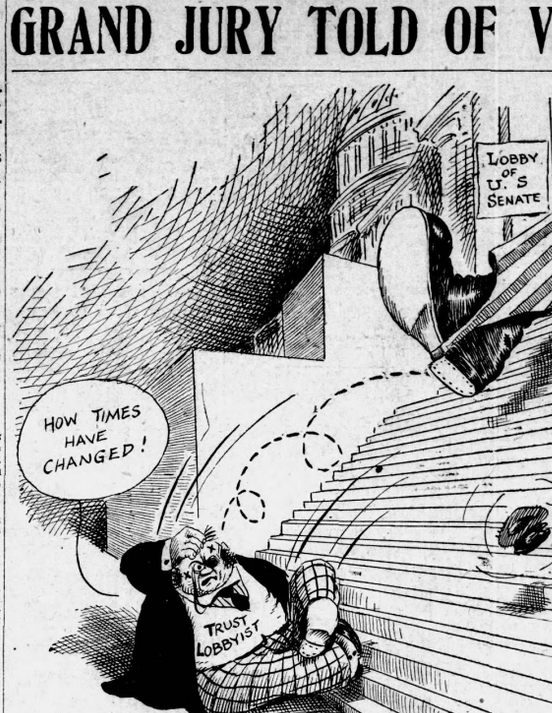
GRAND JURY TOLD OF VICE CONDITIONS



MORE REVISION DOWNWARD

He Declares He Obtained Information First-Hand by Visiting Places Mentioned and Registering

LENGTHY LIST GIVEN JURY BY COL. FELDER

He Declined to Make Public His Information—Grand Jury Begins Probe of Charges About Disorderly Houses

Decidedly the most sensational evidence submitted to the grand jury Tuesday in its investigation of vice conditions in Atlanta, which investigation is said to have grown out of the recent charges published by Colonel Thomas H. Felder and Attorney Carl Hutcheson, was the testimony of the latter.

After emerging from the grand jury room, where he remained for more than an hour, Mr. Hutcheson was charged by a battery of newspaper photographers to whom he waved his hands and gleefully exclaimed: "I gave 'em the dope, boys!"

Later he stated that he had given the grand jury, "all told," a list of thirty place—hotels and houses where vice is permitted to flourish. He declared that he had secured his information about the places first hand; that his evidence was not based on hearsay information.

Mr. Hutcheson said he had registered at a number of the hotels where he had arranged to have women sent to his rooms. He declared he had furnished the grand jury the names under which he had registered and that his own personal evidence was sufficient to justify many indictments.

The the grand jury Mr. Hutcheson exhibited a hotel kye which he stated he had forgotten to return. He declared that he had detailed his night visits to various places which are openly violating the law.

TOLD HIS OWN STORY.

"I was allowed to tell my story in my own way," said Mr. Hutcheson, "and was interrupted by but few questions from the grand jurymen who manifested much satisfaction over the facts which I furnished them. Frequently the jurymen gave vent to satisfied exclamations.

"I have not charged graft in the police department and was, of course, not questioned along this line. I did charge that disorderly houses were being protected if their presence was known to the police and I insisted that if the police did not have such knowledge they were incompetent.

"I cited to the grand jury instances where the police had been notified that women of bad character had moved into respectable neighborhoods and notwithstanding the information the police had not ejected them.

"I delivered the goods, and it is now up to the grand jury."

Colonel Thomas H. Felder, who was called earlier in the day, and spent about fifteen minutes in the grand jury room, was afterwards closeted for an hour with Solicitor Dorsey. Just before leaving the court house he exhibited a typewritten list of about twelve or fourteen pages which he said contained the names and addresses of persons who conducted disorderly places, opposite each name was said to be a note of evidence.

GRAND JURY GIVEN LIST.

Colonel Felder declared the grand jury was in possession of the list and that he did not think it would be proper for him to make it public. He was called into the jury room understanding that he would be at his office and would return to the grand jury room upon a telephone call. Colonel Felder said he

DID MURDER OR ACCIDENT CAUSE DEATH IN FIRE?

Belief Expressed That Tragic McDonough Road Fire May Have Been an Accident

Were Mrs. Sarah Stevens and her adopted daughter, Nellie, murdered at their home on the McDonough road Tuesday night a week ago, or was their death due to accident?

Two negroes are held at police station for the crime, if crime there was, but officers admit that with the evidence at present in hand the case against the blacks is very weak, and that there is not a chance for conviction unless one of them confesses.

The evidence pointing to Walter Wilkes and Ernest Maynard as the murderers is not only purely circumstantial, but the evidence pointing to any murder at all is purely circumstantial.

The chief reason that officers believe the two women met their death through foul play is because it seems highly improbable that the house could have burned over their heads without their escaping unless both had been killed before the building was fired.

A shotgun was found near Mrs. Stevens' side. It had been discharged. The gun was always kept by the side of Mrs. Stevens' bed, says her husband. The fire could have discharged it.

The bodies of both women were burned almost to cinders. Their heads were crushed, whether burnt to pieces by the fire or driven in with some weapon, it is the belief of officers. At the coroner's inquest the county physician declared that he could find no evidence of foul play on the bodies of the victims. The undertakers who had the bodies in charge have stated that the skulls were crushed in regular segments just as they would be cracked in excessive heat. Each had a hole in it, but the skulls are so burned that it could not be told, say the undertakers, whether fire or violence was responsible for them.

In the ruins of the house were found an old axe and the end of a hoe. Detective Bass Rosser declared Tuesday morning that from the position of the hoe when it was found lying among the ruins of Mr. Stevens' room, that it might have fallen in this position at the time of the fire.

Deputy Livsey, of DeKalb county, one of the first men on the scene of the murder, says that the axe, when found, was sticking in the ground at the end of the back porch. The axe, he says, might have fallen in this position when the walls of the house caved in.

HOWARD ASKS FOR A NATIONAL MILITARY PARK FOR ATLANTA

Congressman William Schley Howard Introduces Bill to Create Park in East Atlanta, Where Gen. McPherson Fell

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—William Schley Howard today celebrated his assignment to the military committee of the house by introducing a bill to create a national military park in East Atlanta, around the spot where General James B. McPherson fell in the battle of Atlanta. The bill was referred to the military committee and Mr. Howard hopes to get a favorable report.

"I think the death of General McPherson on the battlefield should be properly commemorated by the federal government," said Mr. Howard. "My bill proposes to purchase 100 acres of land surrounding the spot where he fell."

It is a singular coincident that after his death in the battlefield General McPherson was removed to the home of Congressman Howard's father, from which place he was buried with military honors.

Claims Vaccine Will Cure Serious Cases Of Cancerous Growth

(By Associated Press.)

COLOGNE, Germany, June 3.—Cancer has been proved to be a contagious disease, caused by a parasite, and it can be healed, according to Dr. Otto Schmidt, a cancer expert, who reported at yesterday's meeting of the medical society here the results of his investigations into the origin of and the possibility of curing cancer.

Dr. Schmidt declared he had proved through experiments and had confirmed his findings by means of repeated tests that the disease is a contagious one, brought about by the presence of a parasite which he had discovered in cancerous growths.

He said he had produced a vaccine with which he healed numerous serious cases of cancer. His treatment, he says, brings about immunization against further attacks.

MRS. GRACE WINS DIVORCE BY DEFAULT OF HUSBAND

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—Eugene Grace did not enter appearance to his wife's suit for divorce in this city yesterday, and the court will tomorrow appoint a master to find for the plaintiff in the case.

The naming of a master is a pure legal technicality and as Grace did not appear up until the time court closed for the day the case goes by default, as Grace was served with notice of his wife's suit by publication.

William A. Carr, the attorney for Mrs. Grace, had anticipated that at the last moment some attorney might come into court and announce that he would defend the suit, so when that ordeal was over, Mrs. Grace, who remained in her lawyer's office most of the afternoon, expressed relief at the thought that she would soon be free.

As soon as the regular formalities are disposed of, which will take about three or four weeks, the woman who figured in the sensational trial at Atlanta, will secure her absolute divorce.

FRIEDMANN TREATMENT IS ADMINISTERED HERE

Alabama Matron Inoculated in Atlanta With a Turtle Serum by Friedmann Doctor

In a room at the New Kimball hotel Monday afternoon, the Friedmann method of treatment of tuberculosis was applied for the first tiem in Atlanta. The patient was an Alabama matron, Mrs. J. G. Carpenter, of Lockhart, wife of a traveling salesman connected with the Jackson Lumber company in that city.

Dr. Hilna Meyer, of New York, representative of the Friedmann institute, came to Atlanta to administer the treatment to her.

Mrs. Carpenter arrived in Atlanta Monday afternoon, with her husband and Dr. J. D. McGehee, of Lockhart.

The affection treated was spinal tuberculosis. It is understood that a generous fee was to be paid for the institute's attention to the case. Dr. McGehee was asked, Tuesday morning, if the fee was $1,000, but declined to reply or comment, saying it was a matter of arrangement between parties other than himself.

Efforts to locate Dr. Meyer, Tuesday morning, were without result. He is registered at the Piedmont hotel.

Mr. Carpenter stated Tuesday morning that he and his wife expected to leave for home during the afternoon. Dr. McGehee said that it was undecided whether a second administration of the serum would be made before Mrs. Carpenter left. At 1 o'clock he had not yet re-established communication with Dr. Meyer, he said, to determine whether the second treatment would be advisable.

The Friedmann institute was formed recently in Germany. The serum discovered by Frederick F. Friedmann, of Germany obtained from the inoculation of turtes, and claimed by its discoverer to be a cure and preventive of tuberculosis.

AUGUSTAN IS NAMED CONSUL TO SAXONY

Charles P. Pressly Will Be Nominated Consul General to Dresden

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—It was learned today on reliable authority that Charles P. Pressly, of Augusta, will be the first Georgian to receive recognition at the hands of the administration for a position in the consular service.

Pressly is slated for consul general to Dresden, Saxony, vice T. St John Gaffney, at a salary of $8,000, year. It is believed that his nomination will be sent to the senate in a few days.

Pressly has had the active support of Congressman Hardwick in his candidacy for a place in the consular service.

He has had experience in the service, having served as vice consul general at Marseilles, France, under the last Cleveland administration. This experience has operated strongly in his favor with the administration.

JUDGE NEWMAN HONORS MEMORY OF "JEFF" DAVIS

South Unites in Tributes to Departed Leader and Soldiers of Confederacy

(By Associated Press.)

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 3.—Confederate memorial and decoration day and the anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis were observed here this afternoon. An address was delivered by Judge W. T. Newman, of Atlanta, Ga., a Confederate veteran and a native of east Tennessee. Graves at Bethel cemetery, where Confederate dead are interred, were strewn with flowers following the address. A reception was then tendered the veterans by local members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and crosses of honor were presented a number of the old soldiers.

U. C. V. Daughters and Sons Pay Tribute in Mobile

MOBILE, Ala., June 3.—Daughters of the Confederacy and members of the United Confederate Veterans observed the anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis with appropriate exercises this afternoon. The day is being observed as a legal holiday by the banks, postoffice and courts.

Eye-Witness of Williams' Execution Is Orator

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 3.—Decoration day exercises at Franklin, Tenn., especially commemorate the execution there June 9, 1863, of two Confederate officers, Colonel W. Orton Williams, a cousin of General Robert E. Lee, and Lieutenant Walter G. Peter. They died declaring they were not spies. Their real mission continues a mystery. H. P. Figuers, who saw them hanged, was an orator today.

Ku Klux Klan Is Subject Of Chautauqua Address

(By Associated Press.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 3.—Dr. W. E. Thompson, of Tampa, Fla., orator of Confederate Memorial day here, declared the old south with its chivalry and gentility better than the new south commercialized.

The oration was an analytical review of the Ku Klux Klan and a tribute to the members who served the south at a critical time by living to it. He said the deeds of its heroism would die unless this generation met the obligation to monument the invisible empire with a marble shaft as high as the stars above.

Augusta Banks Are Closed On Birthday of Davis

(By Associated Press.)

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 3.—Jefferson Davis' birthday is being observed quietly here. The banks are closed and appropriate exercises are being held in some of the public schools.

The two local camps of United Confederate Veterans will hold a meeting tomorrow night to do honor to their former chieftain. They will meet at the First Baptist church, where Dr. M. Ashby Jones, son of Rev. J. William Jones, chaplain in General Robert E. Lee's army, will deliver an address on the first and only president of the Confederate states of America.

Alexandria, Va., Observes Birthday of Jeff Davis

(By Associated Press.)

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 3.—"The Stars and Bars" are fluttering from scores of flagstaffs in this city today, for it is the anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy. The day is being observed in all schools of the city and the children are being released in the afternoon for a half-holiday. Elaborate preparations have been made for a general celebration tonight by the various Confederate organizations.

Montgomery Observes Davis' Birthday Anniversary

(By Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3.—The anniversary of the birthday of Jefferson Davis is being generally observed in Montgomery today. All banks are closed and exercises took place in the public schools. The Confederate flag is being displayed conspicuously. Confederate organizations paid respects to the memory of the Confederate chieftain with appropriate exercises.

Savannahians Observe Jefferson Davis' Birthday

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 3.—Jefferson Davis' birthday is being observed here by the Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans and citizens generally. The banks and public buildings are closed. Tonight the two camps of veterans will hold a joint meeting, when an appropriate program will be rendered, Rev. W. T. Granade, pastor of the Duffy Street Baptist church, being the speaker.

Trade in Jacksonville Stops for Exercises

(By Associated Press.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 3.—Jefferson Davis' birthday was celebrated today by a general suspension of business, and memorial exercises at the boar dof trade by the Confederate veterans and the Daughters of the Confederacy. All the banks and business houses are closed, the mayor having decreed a general holiday.

Confesses Guilt As Another Faces Death Sentence for Crime

(By Associated Press.)

SUNBURY, Pa., June 3.—"I alone am guilty of the crime for which Fred Nye is under sentence of death. I fired the fatal shot and planned to rob Miller. Nye knew nothing about it," declared David Everitt, in a written confession yesterday to District Attorney Strouse.

Frederick Nye is under sentence of death for the killing of Henry E. Miller in this city last year.

Miller was found dead in his poolroom with a bullet hole in his neck. The corpse had been robbed of $90. Nye and Everitt were arrested and at their trials each blamed the other.

Nye was sentenced to be hanged and Everitt received a sentence of manslaughter for the crime. The case was taken to the supreme court of Pennsylvania, which declined to interfere and an appeal is now pending before the pardon board.

In his confession made public yesterday Everitt said that he could not sleep at night "because it worries me so to think another boy is to die for a crime I alone committed."

BEEF PRICES SOAR AS COUNTRY FACES SHORTAGE

Number of Beef Cattle in U. S. Has Declined 30 Per Cent in Recent Years

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The demand for beef far exceeds the supply and high prices are the result, says a bulletin issued today by the department of agriculture. The shortage in meat-producing animals, too, is steadily becoming greater.

In the past six years there has been a decline of more than 30 per cent in the number of beef cattle in the United States, according to the department, and during the first three months of this year there has been an approximate decrease of 13 per cent in the number of meat animals killed under government supervision, when compared with the same period of 1912.

The department estimates the number of beef cattle in the United States on January 1, 1907, at 57,500,000 and at the beginning of the present year, at 36,030,000.

Prices paid for cattle, sheep, lambs and hogs last year were much higher than the preceding year.

"The year 1912," says the department, "was a year of high prices for all classes of food animals." With the diminished production in the home market the department declares there is no longer a surplus for export.

"The time has come," it says, "when we must conserve our meat supply."

MOTHER SENTENCES HER OWN WAYWARD SON

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 3.—A mother was called upon to pass sentence upon her thirteen-year-old son in the juvenile court yesterday after the boy had been found guilty of snatching a pocketbook from a woman on the street.

Judge Pinckney asked Mrs. Anna Burek, who had heard the testimony against her son, Joseph, to determine his punishment. "You must earn the money to pay for what you stole," said the mother. "You must promise to be in bed every night by 9 o'clock, or I'll ask the judge to send you away until your hair grows gray," was her ruling.

The judge considered the decision good, and approved the sentence.

LAST OF OLD SETTLERS MEET IN REUNION

(By Associated Press.)

ST. PAUL, June 3.—"We are face to face with the melancholy fact that death has so depleted our ranks that never again will we have a quorum or be able legally to transact business," said E. W. Durant, president of the fifty-sixth annual reunion of the Old Settlers' association, which was held here today.

Five men, representing the last of Minnesota's first white citizens, attended the meeting of the association, which was formed in 1850.

"We can only wait for the end when the last member will answer the summons that forever extinguishes our association," Mr. Durant continued.

MERCER BOARD REFUSES TO OUST FRATERNITIES

Action Postponed Indefinitely, No Charges Made Against President Jameson

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 3.—The Mercer university board of trustees postponed indefinitely the question of abolishing the Greek letter fraternities of the college at the annual meeting last night.

The trustees, not being ready to precipitate a fight until the alleged discord between President S. Y. Jameson, the faculty and student body and prudential committee has been settled, announced last night at the close of their session that the question of eliminating the fraternities from the college had been indefinitely postponed.

The fight of removing the fraternities from the college is supported by President Jameson.

Judge T. A. Parker, chairman of the special committee who were to report on charges of mismanagement brought against President Jameson last February, stated last night that no charges had been found against the college president or the prudential committee.

Just what the report of the special committee contains is not known since that body has refused to make their finding public. The matter will be discussed further today.

ELECTRIC SHOCK INJURES LITTLE MARY M'LARTY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ALBANY, Ga., June 3.—Mary D. McLarty, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McLarty, was knocked unaccious and badly burned by an electric shock Sunday night at the home of her uncle, Mr. J. A. McLarty, in this city. The little girl was in the bathroom, and in reaching up to turn on the electric light she received the shock that caused her injuries.

MACON SETS ASIDE $500 "TO MOVE THE CAPITOL"

Chamber of Commerce Names Committee to Get Busy on Project at Once

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 3.—Believing that the question of moving the capital from Atlanta to Macon should be put to a vote in the next legislature, the directors' board of the Macon chamber of commerce have asked President E. W. Stetson to name a strong committee to at once take up the fight.

An appropriation of $500 has been put aside, expenses for this committee and a larger appropriation is assured from the city council if needed.

President Stetson has stated that he will name C. R. Pendleton as chairman of the committee and the fight will begin at once. The committee will be composed of not less than twenty of the best and most active business men of Macon. The committee will be named within the next two days.

This Georgia Mule Seems Immune from Lightning

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

EATONTON, Ga., June 3.—According to reports received here today, a mule being worked by the Putnam county commissioners in orad construction was struck by lightning twice Saturday without being harmed.

Superintendent J. H. aPschal is said to be the authority for the report.

GIRLS WHO ARE PALE, NERVOUS

May Find Help in Mrs. Elston's Letter About Her Daughter.

Burlington, Iowa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured my daughter of weakness. She was troubled almost a year with it and complained of backache, so that I thought she would be an invalid. She was entirely run down, pale, nervous and without appetite. I was very much discouraged but heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound through friends and now I praise it because it has cured my daughter."—Mrs. F. M. Elston, R. D. No. 3, Burlington, Iowa.

Case of Another Girl.

Scanlon, Minn.—"I used to be bothered with nervous spells, and would cry if anyone was cross to me. I got awful weak spells especially in the morning, and my appetite was poor. I also had a tender place in my right side which pained when I did any hard work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my symptoms all changed, and I am certainly feeling fine. I recommend it to every suffering woman or girl. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Miss Ella Olson, 171 6th St., Virginia, Minn.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CUT ALONG THIS LINE.

Why Last Year's Catalogue Is No Good.

The use of last year's Catalogue in this Campaign will make it impossible for you to win. It does not contain all the titles used this year, and using it to select titles will mean that you will turn in a number of answers not in our New Catalogue, and, therefore, not correct. The same thing will happen to any contestant using any other Catalogue except this year's Catalogue. The old Catalogue or a Catalogue used on any other newspaper is absolutely useless to you, and our advice would be to get a new Catalogue if you expect to win a prize.

Don't waste good time and an opportunity to win a handsome prize by sticking to an old Catalogue that is absolutely worthless to you in this Campaign. Get the new Catalogue and exercise all your rights to extra answers and you ought to win a prize. Whatever you do, don't let the old Catalogue keep your name out of the prize-winning list this year.

"LYNCHING" HOAX NEARLY BECAME A STERN REALITY

Authority Says Two Negro Suspects in Stevens Mystery Were to Be Scared Only

Report is current, with the stamp of authenticity, that a make-believe near-lynching was staged Monday afternoon on the site of the burned Stevens home on McDonough road, as a sort of "third degree," for whatever effect it might have in extracting a confession from the two negroes suspected of the dual murder there and the burning of the house a week ago; and that it very narrowly escaped becoming a real lynching because others of the neighborhood than those farmers who were notified in advance, were not let in on the secret.

Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford, of the Atlanta city police, was told of the rumor Tuesday morning and declined to make any comment.

Monday night the two suspected negroes, Walter Willies and Ernest Mayard, were removed from the city jail in Atlanta to the DeKalb county jail in Decatur.

The known facts of the matter are that Sheriff McCurdy and an officer or two, with the negro suspects, went out to the scene of the mystery Monday afternoon. Two charred corpses, identified as those of Mrs. Sarah C. Stevens and her adopted daughter, Nellie, had been found in the smoking embers of the Stevens home last Wednesday morning. The two negroes are seriously involved by the suspicions of the officers.

Chief of Detectives Lanford and city officers in another car followed Sheriff McCurdy's party.

Arriving at the site of the ruined home officers in the first car quizzed the negroes for a while, and then tied them to a tree and went off somewhere.

The known facts continue that shortly after the officers left, several farmers (perhaps ten) gathered around the bobbed negroes and began to threaten them. Shortly other residents of the neighborhood appeared, from nowhere in particular, and a mob was in process of rapid formation. Its operations are said to have reached the point of ropes being thrown over a tree limb, and noses slipped over the negroes' heads, when the sheriff and his men, and the chief of detectives and his men, appeared on the scene and with drawn pistols and in all earnestness rescued the prisoners and hurried with them back to the city.

BIG PARADE WEDNESDAY WILL BEGIN FOOD MEN'S HOLIDAYS

Gay Decorations of Wagons and Themselves Will Be Shown in Unique Procession Through City Wednesday Afternoon by Atlanta's Grocers and Butchers—Will Be First Weekly Half-Holiday

The grocers and butchers of Atlanta will close their stores Wednesday afternoon and parade through the streets of the city in one of the longest and most unusual processions the city ever saw.

Every Wednesday afternoon through the months of June, July and August the grocers and butchers will close their stores. The parade will celebrate the first closing and attract the attention of the public to their very important movement.

As over 90 per cent of the grocers and butchers have signed the agreement to close on Wednesday afternoon, over 90 per cent of the general public will be affected, therefore, by the closing.

Hence the grocers and butchers figured that something in the nature of a "loud noise" would be necessary properly to impress the people with the new order of things. And their parade will be that, and then some.

In addition to the grocers and butchers, practically all the commission merchants, wholesale grocers, jobbers, food manufacturers, etc., will take part, so that almost the entire food-providing department of the city's business will be represented.

As told in detail in The Journal last Sunday, the Wednesday closing idea was originated by Harry Schlesinger and presented by him to the holiday committee of the Grocers and Butchers' association at a luncheon in the Piedmont hotel. They were pleased with the idea and set out to work right away to get the association interested. The City Salesmen's association gave their services in the way of circulating petitions, and over 96 per cent of the grocers and butchers signed up. It was last August when Mr. Schlesinger gave his luncheon.

Today all plans are complete.

The parade will start Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Forming at the state capitol, the parade will move down Washington street to Fair, up Fair to Brotherton, up Brotherton to Whitehall, up Whitehall to Peachtree, out Peachtree to North avenue, down North avenue to West Peachtree, and back West Peachtree to Five Points, where it will disperse.

A detail of mounted policemen will ride ahead of the parade. It will be led by Harry L. Schlesinger and Nym McCullough as grand marshals. There will be four brass bands. Nearly every grocer's and butcher's delivery wagon in the city will be in the parade, all decorated and loaded with confetti and advertising novelties, which employes of the stores will scatter along the way. Then there will be automobile trucks and manmobile vans galore. The grocers and butchers will march a-foot. Many say they are not content to decorate their wagons alone, but will likewise decorate themselves in purple and fine linen for the great event. The aids will wear red sashes and will ride back and forth to keep the parade in order.

After the parade the grocers, butchers, commission men, wholesalers, manufacturers, and so on, together with their friends will spend the evening down town taking in the "movies," the theaters and numerous other amusements which have been provided specially for the occasion.

The general public, of course, is invited to turn out en masse and watch the parade. It will be a huge and unprecedented spectacle—the festive multi-colored apotheosis of a great city's "commissary department."

And remember, during June, July and August you must order a double day's supply of groceries on Tuesday.

FORM AT 1:30.

The parade will form at 1:30 o'clock, heading at the corner of Washington and East Mitchell streets. It will be headed by the city policemen. Then will follow the grand marshals of the day, Harry L. Schlesinger and D. N. McCullough, to be followed by the Fifth Regiment band in an auto truck; then the wagons and automobiles of the holiday committee of the retail grocers, escorted by Aids Cowan and Mosley, with their assistants, Messrs. Mildred Phelps, J. A. Word, H. A. Bishop and Ed R. Buchanan, who will be on horseback dressed in their picturesque costumes.

The retail grocers' wagons will form on the Washington street viaduct, East Hunter street and all across intermediate streets east of Washington street as placed by the aids. They will go into East Hunter street, into Washington street, and down Washington street.

Stationed at East Hunter street and Capitol avenue the Marist College band will be in an auto truck, followed by all the balance of the retail grocery and market companies' wagons under the direction of H. Weinberg and his corps of aids.

Following the retail grocers, the packing house wagons will form on East Mitchell street, Central avenue and East Hunter street, west of Washington street, escorted by Chief Aid M. J. Burton and his assistant aids, Messrs. Williams, J. J. Evans, S. O. King and C. W. Norman. The packing house wagons will be headed by the Greater Atlanta Boys' club band. The packing house wagons will come up East Mitchell street into Washington street.

Following the packing house wagons, the commission merchants and jobbers' wagons, floats and auto trucks will form at East Fair street and cross streets east of Washington street heading on East Fair street. Chief Aid J. F. Mosnair, with his assistants, J. J. McCarthy, D. G. McNair, J. H. Walker, Willie Retsman and Milner M. White, will have charge of this division. These wagons will come down East Fair street into Washington street.

Following these wagons the bakery and cracker manufacturers will form on Washington street south of East Fair under Chief Marshal J. F. Merritt with his assistants, J. J. Willis, L. C. Thompson and W. E. Baldwin. This division will be headed by Wedemeyer's band. They will come out of Washington street facing north, into East Fair street.

The next division will be the ice wagons and the ice manufacturers' wagons, which will form on Central avenue north of East Fair street, heading south and will come out of Central avenue into East Fair and Brotherton streets. They will be under the care of Chief Marshal C. J. McCoy and R. H. Comer with their ten assistants. They will be headed by the band.

The balance of the trades, manufacturers, retail wagons, clothing, haberdashers and laundry wagons will form on Central avenue facing north, and will come out of Central avenue into Fair and Brotherton. The line of march will be from Mitchell and Washington streets, down Washington street to East Fair, down East Fair to Brotherton, down Brotherton to Whitehall, Whitehall to Peachtree, Peachtree to North avenue, North avenue to West Peachtree and back up West Peachtree. On the way back the grand marshals with all the assistant grand marshals and the aids will stop at West Baker street facing east and will review the parade, which will continue on to Five Points and there disband.

The aids and assistants are urged to meet the grand marshals at the corner of Washington street and Mitchell street promptly at 1:30, to receive final instructions. All wagons contemplating being in the parade must be in line by 1:30 o'clock.

FELDER CONFERS ABOUT HUFF CONTEMPT CASE

He Sees Judge W. L. Grubb but Declines to Discuss Nature of Interview

A conference between Judge W. L. Grubb, of Birmingham, Ala., and Attorney General Thomas S. Felder in reference to the Huff contempt case in Macon, Ga., occurred Tuesday morning at the capitol, but the nature of the conference was not made public.

Mr. Felder, who leaves Tuesday night for Valdosta, Ga., on legal business connected with his office, was free to admit that he had discussed the Huff case with Judge Grubb, but had nothing to say in reference to the conversation.

"I feel certain," said the attorney general, who was Colonel Walter A. Huff's personal counsel in the case, "that Judge Grubb will not pronounce sentence until he reaches Macon. The probabilities are that he will not make this announcement in Atlanta, but I am perfectly willing that he be asked any questions bearing on the subject."

When asked if he would make an appeal from the court's sentence, Mr. Felder replied that it would depend entirely on the nature of the punishment.

NO ACTION NOW.

Judge Grubb, of the federal court, northern district of Alabama, who is here as one of the three judges hearing the Alabama rate case, said later that no further action would be taken in the Huff contempt case outside of Macon.

Judge Grubb recently decided that Colonel W. A. Huff, of Macon, was in contempt for a certain letter he wrote Judge Speer. This decision has already been communicated to Thomas S. Felder, Colonel Huff's counsel.

Sentence will be passed at Macon but the date has not yet been decided this depending on Judge Grubb's engagements as well as a conference to be held. Judge Grubb, of course, would not intimate what the sentence would be.

CARL HUTCHESON NAMES 30 PLACES IN HIS TESTIMONY

would probably have some additional names for the grand jury by Wednesday.

Mayor Woodward and Charlie C. Jones, proprietor of the Elks saloon, were also before the grand jury during the morning. The mayor is understood to have submitted considerable hearsay evidence. Jones states that he was asked what he knew about vice conditions and replied that he did not know anything, after which he was excused.

The grand jury remained in session for some time after Mr. Hutcheson, the last witness of the day, was dismissed. It is presumed the members discussed the testimony of Mr. Hutcheson and mapped out a plan for its further investigations, which it is understood will be resumed Wednesday morning.

FOREMAN TALKS.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the grand jury adjourned, following which Foreman Lewis H. Beck was closeted for some time with Solicitor Dorsey. He explained to the newspaper men that the grand jury was working as a committee of the whole to investigate vice conditions in the city, and intimated that no indictments would be brought against persons alleged to be operating disorderly houses.

It was inferred from Mr. Beck's remarks that the grand jury proposes to gather all the information it can and submit same in a report to the court, leaving the state and city authorities to take such action as they may deem proper upon the facts revealed.

DICTOGRAPH NOT MENTIONED.

Every witness who appeared before the grand jury declared positively that no mention of the alleged dictograph conversations was made before the grand jury or by the jurors.

Foreman Beck at the close of the session declared that the dictograph incident and the charges of alleged graft in the police department had not come up for consideration, the jury dealing solely with a broad investigation of vice conditions in the city.

While the foreman says he does not know what the investigation of the grand jury will develop, he gives no intimation that it will take up anything except the vice condition.

OFFICIALS EXCHANGE VIEWS.

An interesting, and at times amusing, three-cornered conversation occurred Tuesday morning between Colonel Thomas B. Felder, Mayor James G. Woodward and Police Chief James L. Beavers, while they were in the anteroom of the solicitor general's office at the court house awaiting to be called before the grand jury to testify concerning the charges of Colonel Felder and Attorney Hutcheson to the effect that disorderly houses were being operated in Atlanta without police interference.

This conversation related in the main to the alleged dictographed records of conversations which are said to have occurred something over a week ago between Colonel Felder, Mayor Woodward, C. C. Jones, E. O. Miles, G. C. Febuary and A. S. Colyar.

Jones was present in the ante-room, as were seevral newspaper men and a number of court house attaches. The three principals were talking over the "situation" in a courteous but constrained manner. They appeared to be indulging in a bit of serious pleasantry, and frequently the audience, which was at times convulsed with merriment, applauded vigorously.

WOULD CATCH EACH OTHER.

Mayor Woodward started the show when, addressing Chief Beavers, he said: "I didn't mention either yours or Lanford's name in that alleged dictographed conversation. If I had done so I would do it now, and I want to say to you that if I could catch you grafting, I would do so just as quick as I would catch any other official."

"And I would catch you, too, if I could," replied the chief.

Turning to Colonel Felder, Chief Beavers inquired: "Did you say that I visit some woman on Garnett street?"

"No, I didn't," answered Colonel Felder, "but I will tell some time who did. And I want to say to you right now, in the presence of the mayor and Jones, that I am not the attorney for any vice gang or any ring which is trying to put vice back in Atlanta. Furthermore, I will stand upon a dry goods box at Five Points and repeat anything I have said."

Beavers: "Didn't you say you would drive me naked through the streets of Atlanta?"

Such a loud volley of laughter followed this question that Colonel Felder's reply was lost.

Mayor Woodward, addressing Chief Beavers: "Don't you think you used some pretty sorry men in that alleged dictograph job?"

Beavers: "I don't know anything about the thers, but I do know Febuary to be a straightforward young man."

Mayor Woodward: "Whenever he says he has a paper that will show graft in your department—He said it to me and can't deny it—it looks like he's a pretty sorry fellow and that you wouldn't want him in your department."

Colonel Felder interjected a question at this point. He said: "Does your department know where Gentry is?"

Chief Beavers indicated that it did not.

HAS LOCATED GENTRY.

Felder: "Well I do. I located him yesterday and I know who ran him out of town."

Beavers: "We ought to get that man. By the way, Mr. Felder, what kind of an instrument is a dictograph?"

Felder "In the hands of honest people it is an accurate and effective instrument."

Beavers: "It told the truth in South Carolina, did it not?"

Felder: "Yes; nobody stood over the man there and directed him what to write into the record. I don't mean to say you did it here, but it was done."

Beavers: "Well, I didn't see the record when it was being transcribed."

Felder: "I know you didn't. You will be horrified, chief, when you know the facts."

Beavers "Well, whatever the facts are I want to know them."

Felder: "It didn't appear to the people who employed Colyar that he would sell out to one side as quick as the other."

Beavers: "I didn't know Colyar before he came here."

Felder: "You didn't know him, but others who have nursed him along since he has been here did know him."

Beavers: "Well, if he is a crook, as you say, I suppose he will sell out to one side as quick as the other."

Attorney Hutchenson, at this juncture of the conversation, remarked to Chief Beavers that he wished he would go with him to some of the places he knew about and which he had incorporated in a list which he was preparing.

Chief eBavers was called out of the room and after he left Mayor Woodward spoke to Colonel Felder, saying: "I don't know what I am wanted here for."

To which Colonel Felder replied: "The fact that you were dictographed was crime enough to bring you before any grand jury."

COLONEL FELDER CALLED.

The conversation then lagged until Colonel Felder was summoned before the grand jury. At his request he was the first witness called. Just as he was leaving the ante-room he declared to the newspaper men present that he would make some astounding revelations, but refused to indicate what his disclosures would be. He pointed to an armful of papers which he carried and remarked that these were a part of his proof.

Colonel Felder remained in the grand jury room less than 15 minutes. It is understood that after outlining his testimony he was excused temporarily, with the understanding that he would again be called, but remained in the ante room.

ASKED DICTOGRAPH PROBE.

Although Colonel Felder declined to discuss what he said to the grand jury during his preliminary examination, or what was said to him then by the members of the grand jury, it is understood that he specifically requested that probe be made of the alleged dictograph conversations in which he is said to have figured and which with the Colyar affidavits resulted in the city detectives preferring charges against him.

It is understood that Colonel Felder was advised by the grand jury that as present it had nothing whatever to do with the dictograph episode, but that it was just now chiefly concerned in ascertaining the facts concerning the alleged existence of vice in the city of Atlanta.

The grand jury, it is said, reminded Colonel Felder that in his charge to it on Monday, May 5, Judge W. D. Ellis referred indirectly to the recent vice crusade and the possible effect it would have in stimulating the opening of disorderly houses in dark and secret places after they had been removed from a certain known location.

MAYOR EXAMINED.

Mayor Woodward followed Colonel Felder before the grand jury and was questioned for about three-quarters of an hour. After he was excused he stated that the investigation appeared to be in the nature of a "John Doe" proceeding. He said he was questioned concerning the alleged existence in Atlanta of disorderly houses, and that all he told the grand jury was based upon hearsay information.

The mayor would not admit, nor would he deny that he had been interrogated concerning the allegation that graft existed in the police department. He said positively that nothing was said to him about the alleged dictographed conversations, and he could not recall that Colonel Felder's name had been mentioned in the interview.

Mayor Woodward said it was evident from the questions they asked him that the jury is going very thoroughly into the vice situation in Atlanta.

"They asked me if it is true that the town is full of women of bad character," he said. "I told them I couldn't say from my own personal knowledge, but that from information and belief I could tell them that the town certainly is full of them. I remarked that I reckoned they knew as much as I did, whereupon they smiled, and gave me the impression that their information and belief coincided pretty nearly with mine. They asked me particularly what I knew about the hotels, and I gave them my opinion. Also, I told them I thought one thing that ought to be done—and done first—is to clean up the streets, so that ladies can walk downtown without being insulted. And I am pretty certain they agreed with me on that point."

WITNESSES SUBPENAED.

The witnesses subpenaed by the grand jury were: Colonel Thomas B. Felder, Attorney Carl Hutcheson, Mayor Woodward, C. C. Jones, Police Chief Beavers, Detective Chief W. A. Lanford and Detective John Black.

A subpena was also issued for Mrs. Nina Formby, the woman who made an affidavit to the detectives in which she admitted having conducted a rooming house, and in which she also swore that on the night of the murder of Mary Phagan Leo M. Frank, the pencil factory superintendent, repeatedly telephoned her in an effort to obtain a room to which she alleges he declared he wished to bring a girl.

Anticipating that the grand jury would take up the dictograph charges against Colonel Felder, Mayor Woodward and others, Detective Chief Lanford appeared at the solicitor's office Tuesday morning with a list of witnesses which he requested to be subpenaed. Among them were G. C. Febuary, A. S. Colyar, George M. Gentry, J. M. Hewitt and Detective R. S. Ozburn.

SOLICITOR'S STATEMENT.

Solicitor Dorsey made it plain Tuesday morning that the investigation was being put in motion by Foreman Beck. He said he had no knowledge of its objects and all that he knew was that Mr. Beck brought a list of witnesses to the assistant solicitor and requested that they be subpenaed.

Shortly before the grand jury convened at 10 o'clock Colonel Felder appeared at the solicitor's office with an armful of papers. To a Journal reporter he intimated that he might summon a number of witnesses. He declared that he would be able to substantiate every charge he had made. Colonel Felder, when asked for a list of his probable witnesses, replied that he did not think it would be advisable at this time to give them out.

FINANCE COMMITTEE DECIDES BOND ISSUE IS ONLY SALVATION

negro schools are needed, so that the total will run well around $1,000,000 or more.

BETTER STREETS NEEDED.

Another great need of Atlanta is more streets and better streets. Council members agree that there ought to be a general system of main highways, with about three or four leading north and south, and the same number leading east and west.

Then the waterworks department needs new pumps, and bigger appropriations for extending the system of mains and cast iron pipe.

All the departments, in fact, have needs that are real and pressing.

It was Chairman Humphrey who, after all had been said and done, proposed that the committee recommend a bond issue. The committee favored the suggestion at once. One or two members of the committee said they thought the city ought to issue $5,000,000 worth of bonds.

PROBE ROASTS GAYNOR; ASKS WALDO'S REMOVAL

Wants N. Y. Police Commissioner Removed—Says It's Useless to Ask Gaynor

NEW YORK, June 3.—The removal of Rhinelander Waldo, commissioner of police, is recommended in a report of the Curran aldermanic committee, which for months has been investigating police conditions in the city. A paragraph of the report, which was made public today, says:

"The public interest requires the immediate removal of Commissioner Waldo. We realize the futility of making any such recommendation to the mayor of the city. The facts set forth were disclosed long ago at your public hearings. Nevertheless the mayor continues to approve and applaud the commissioner's administration.

"We, therefore, recommend that the board of aldermen request the governor of the state to relieve the city of New York from a police commissioner who by temperament and conduct has shown himself unfit to occupy his office.

T. M. WORD.

For several years my wife suffered frequent attacks with acute indigestion. These attacks in their alarming frequency became the dread of my life. My wife never knew when she could eat without taking the risk of one of these attacks. We tried every remedy we could hear of with only temporary relief. Sitting in my office one morning, feeling very despondent after spending a sleepless night and the terrible suspense over the alarming condition of my wife, a friend called my attention to Nuxcara, the wonderful stomach remedy, stating that Nuxcara would cure her without a doubt. I at once put her on the treatment with the most happy results. She is entirely cured, and is in better health than she has been for years; eats anything she wants—Nuxcara is the most wonderful remedy I ever heard of.

My wife was so delighted with her experience with Nuxcara that she prevailed upon me to take it myself. I was suffering with a catarrhal condition which affected my liver and kidneys. I had been under the treatment of a specialist for my kidneys who kept me on a diet for several months, but my condition seemed to grow worse and I was in a state of mind to make a change, so I began to take Nuxcara, which completely cured me in a short time. My health is perfect. I eat and sleep well; in fact, I never felt better in my life. I regard Nuxcara as an achievement in science unparalleled, a remedy which has no equal in all forms of stomach trouble. T. M. Word, 373 Cherokee avenue.

DENMARK WILL CASE NOW BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Arguments for and Against Changing Will Heard–State University Interested

What is believed to be the last ringing in the final adjudication of the famous Denmark will case, involving the disposition of an estate worth about $150,000, and in which the University of Georgia is interested as a conditional legatee, was begun before the state supreme court Tuesday morning when arguments for and against the breaking of the will were heard.

This case was appealed to the supreme court last July, when the judge of the Chatham county superior court overruled a demurrer by the university trustees to a petition filed by Mrs. P. A. Denmark, who sought to have the court set aside the will of her husband and require the executors and co-executors of his estate to turn over to her all securities as her absolute property.

The Denmark will case is a most interesting one. P. A. Denmark died in Savannah in 1901. His will disposed of an estate worth $150,030, invested mostly in stocks and bonds. He left a wife and one son, Thomas Norwood Denmark, who was then twenty years old. The widow and son were made executors of the estate.

It was provided in the will that the income from one-half of the estate should go to Mrs. Denmark during her lifetime or during her widowhood, and that the income from the other half should go to the son during his lifetime. In the event the son married and had a son the entire estate, upon the death of the widow and her son should revert to the grandson.

Should the son ont have issue, the estate, upon his and his mother's death, should go to the University of Georgia.

This will was probated twelve years ago and Mrs. Denmark and her son, up to his death, acted under its provisions. In addition to the general provisions of the will Mrs. Denmark and her son were each left $5,000 cash.

In her petition for the setting aside of the will, which was filed last July, eleven years after the will was probated, Mrs. Denmark claimed that the bequest to the university was illegal and void because it was violative of the state's statute which limits bequests to religious, charitable, civil or educational institutions to not more than one-third of what is left of the wife, child or grandchild of the testator.

In opposing Mrs. Denmark's petition the university trustees contend that the superior court was without jurisdiction to set aside a probated will, that this was a question for the ordinary's court and that having accepted the will and acted under it for more than three years, Mrs. Denmark could not bring action in the court of ordinary. Therefore, it is alleged, the will stands as made by the deceased.

The university trustees are represented by Colonel P. W. Meldrim, of Savannah; Major W. E. Simmons, of Lawrenceville, and Judge George F. Gober, of Marietta. Anderson, Cann & Cann, of Savannah, represent Mrs. Denmark.

NIGHT SCHOOL GIRLS TO HOLD THEIR EXERCISES

The closing exercises of the Girls' Night school of Atlanta will take place at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the Sunday school rooms of the Central Congregational church, corner West Ellis and Carnegie way.

Mrs. Laura White, principal of the school, will have the exercises in charge, and has prepared an interesting program for the evening. It includes such attractive numbers as an industrial drill, an adaption of Hiawatha, patriotic songs, exercises by the Camp Fire girls and the foreign girls' class.

W. M. Slaton, superintendent of schools, will make an address. A large class will be graduated this year, the closing session having been the most successful in the history of the school. The public is invited to the exercises.

NEGRO BISHOP FOR 40 YEARS TO GET TRIBUTE

Negro Leaders Plan to Lift Debt on Bishop Holsey's Home

Plans are now on foot to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the election of Bishop L. A. Holsey, colored, as bishop of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church, by raising a fund to lift the debt from his home. It is planned to have the celebration at the Atlanta Butler Street church on August 6.

Bishop Holsey is an ex-slave, and was owned by Bishop Pierce. He served his master as a carriage driver, and learned to preach from listening to Bishop Pierce.

His education was acquired by his own efforts, as he was never able to attend a school. Instead, he struggled over his books by a knotwood fire, and worked his way up forty years ago to the bishopric of one of the greatest churches among the colored people of the Methodist faith.

During this time he has conducted himself in such a manner as to command the respect of everyone, and there has not been a blemish on his personal character or any of his official acts.

Aside from his personal life, he has been a potent factor in the upbuilding of his race in the south. He was the founder of the Paine college, giving all of his salary to support the school in its infancy, while he raised vegetables to support his family.

He founded four academic and industrial schools in this state, the Holsey Industrial academy, Cordele, Ga.; the Hartwell academy, Hartwell, Ga.; the Harriet Holsey Industrial school, Dublin, Ga., and the Helena B. Cobbs Institute, Barnesville, Ga. The value of these institutions approximates $100,000. Anyone desiring to contribute to the fund to lift the debt on Bishop Holsey's home may send the contribution to Rev. C. C. Neal, Gainesville, Ga. The committee in charge of the celebration are R. A. Carter, Lee O'Neal, J. A. Rawan, G. L. Ward, J. A. Martin and M. F. Brinson.

SLEUTH GETS BURGLAR WHO STOLE WATCH FROM KNOX

T. H. Knox, of 23 Kuhns street, was robbed of his watch Monday night by a burglar who entered his room shortly before midnight and fled through the side window.

Knox awoke to hear the intruder moving about near the door. He rose up in bed just as the marauder took a header out the window. When Knox looked in his trousers' pocket the watch was gone.

Officer Gresham was called to the house and by some good detective work managed to get the alleged robber and the watch Tuesday morning. He arrested Clifford Howell, a negro, and a search revealed the timepiece concealed in a false pocket in the back of the black's coat.

Howell was bound over for burglary by Recorder Pro Tem Preston Tuesday morning.

DR. B. W. MEBANE RESIGNS HIS EATONTON CHARGE

EATONTON, Ga., June 3.—Dr. B. W. Mebane, who has been the pastor of the First Presbyterian church here for two years past, has tendered his resignation effective within thirty days. Dr. Mebane came here from Mebane, N. C., and is one of the best known ministers of the Old North State.

BANK OF HELEN ASKS FOR A STATE CHARTER

Application for a charter was made to Secretary of State Phil Cook Tuesday morning by the Bank of Helen, in White County, Ga. The capitalization of the new institution is to be $25,000 in shares of $100 each. The incorporators are John E. Mitchell, of St. Louis, Mo.; B. F. Young, of Nacoochee, Ga., and F. G. Jones, of Cleveland, Ga.

Mr. G. G. Hall Dead

Mr. G. G. Hall, aged fifty-four years, a car repairer for the Southern railway, died Tuesday morning at his home in Oak Grove park. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Robert, Walter and Albert Hall, and one daughter, Blanche Hall. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MEDICAL PAPER DECRIES WALKER CASE REPORTS

Journal of the A. M. A. Says Sensationalism Led to Suicides

The Journal of the American Medical association, published in Chicago, one of the biggest medical journals in the world, in its current issue lays the blame for many suicides on sensational reports of the case of the late Mr. Sanford Walker, of Macon, who swallowed a bichloride of mercury tablet by mistake.

"The suggestion has had its effect," the medical journal says, "and suicides by this method are now being reported."

The idea of a painless death from bichloride of mercury is being generally ridiculed in medical circles and a prominent Atlanta physician said Tuesday: "As a matter of fact if a physician were going to commit suicide, bichloride of mercury would be one of the last things in the world he would resort to."

The editorial in the medical journal, entitled "Newspapers and Suicide," follows:

COAL STRIKE PROBE AFTER DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Laying the foundation for an exhaustive investigation of West Virginia coal strike conditions, the special senate committee today began a search for all documentary evidence in Washington bearing on the situation.

Some time ago the department of labor probed charges of peonage and looked into the conditions of immigrants employed in the mines. The committee today decided to ask the department for a copy of its report.

RICE MADE MISTAKE, DECLARES MRS. KUGLER

He Admitted to Health Board He Did Not See Her Downtown, As Reported

Mrs. Charles Kluger, of 15 West Alexander street, on whose complaint the board of health summarily discharged Henry M. Maddox, a city sanitary inspector, has requested The Journal to make a further statement in her behalf clearing up another phase of the matter.

Mrs. Kugler charged that Maddox came into her house and made insulting remarks about her being downtown to meet a man other than her husband. When hailed before the board of health Maddox admitted something of the kind, but claimed he intended no reflection upon Mrs. Kugler. He said that D. E. Rice, a sewer flusher in the sanitary department, had told him of seeing Mrs. Kugler downtown.

Whereupon the board called in Rice. After a careful look at Mrs. KKugler he affirmed that she was not the woman he saw downtown. On the following day in recorder's court, when Maddox was tried, Rice again swore that he had made a mistake.

TO ASK $40,000,000 FOR ALASKAN RAILROAD

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Senators Jones and Chamberlain of the territories committee have agreed to submit to the entire committee Friday a bill to authorize an issue of $40,000,000 in bonds for the building of a government Alaskan railroad.

A commission of five under the direction of the president would have charge of the work. No route was decided upon and questions of government operation or lease were left for the future.

BAGWELL BUSINESS COLLEGE WILL GIVE FREE SHORTHAND COURSE

To Demonstrate the Brevity and the Superiority of the Famous Chartier System of Shorthand, Popular School Will Give Week's Free Course to All Who May Apply.

Free scholarships offered as prizes to those making the best showing.

In order that the large number who wish to secure a business course at this season may have an opportunity to investigate, without cost or obligation, the wonderful possibilities of Chartier Shorthand, Bagwell Business College, will give a week's course absolutely free to all who may apply.

The day class will be formed Monday morning, 9:30, June 9; the evening class, Monday evening, 7:30, June 9.

After One Week's Instruction the student will understand every principle of the system, and will be able to write ordinary business letters and read his notes easily and accurately. Those who take this free course can easily finish the regular course and become competent stenographers in a few weeks.

Free Scholarships Offered As Prizes.

A $100 life scholarship will be given as first prize to the student making the best record during the week. A $50 life scholarship in Shorthand will be given as a second prize. A $50 life scholarship will be given to the student making the best record in the night class. All have an equal chance to win one of these valuable prizes.

Positions Secured.

The College secures positions for all its students, and it agrees to place every one who finishes this Shorthand course.

Bagwell Business College has graduated and placed in positions in the past seven years over 1,000 efficient stenographers. Their splendid success in holding the most difficult and responsible positions is a matter of record. Without exception, all give Chartier Shorthand their enthusiastic endorsement. Many who write other systems recommend Chartier.

All those who enroll for this demonstration course do so absolutely free, and are under no obligation to continue.

HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS WILL NAME ASSISTANTS

Council Passes Ordinance Making Them Heads in Fact as Well as in Name

General council went on record Monday in favor of the policy that heads of city departments shall be heads in fact as well as in name.

The Nutting ordinance, providing that heads of departments shall have the right to nominate and be charged with the duty of nominating their subordinates, was adopted without opposition and without a dissenting vote.

While the ordinance does not deprive the boards of the right to reject such nominations, the intention is rendered less plain. It applies exactly to a situation like that which recently developed in the police board, when six members of the board wanted Chief Beavers to nominate a man for a sergeant's vacancy, and six insisted that the board should do the nominating as well as the electing.

Alderman Nutting claims he did not frame his ordinance to fit that situation alone, however. He says he has been contemplating such an ordinance for some time, and the police board deadlock merely reminded him that now is a suitable time to introduce it.

The ordinance to prohibit the use of whips by drivers of wagons, drays, and other heavily loaded vehicles, introduced and championed by Alderman Maddox, was laid on the table. The alderman is an excavating contractor and works some fifty teams every day. He made a very earnest speech in behalf of the much abused mule, declaring that nine times out of ten the negro driver is more at fault than the animal. Council enjoyed his speech but declined to pass his ordinance.

Alderman Maddox won, however, with his ordinance prohibiting minors from pawning or selling to junk dealers any article of any kind, without first obtaining written permission from their parents or guardians. Council passed that.

PRISON REFORM URGED BY ATLANTA MINISTERS

Want Ministers Throughout the State to Inspect All Penal Institutions

Resolutions were adopted Monday at a meeting of the Evangelical ministers' meeting, calling upon the Christian pastors throughout the state to visit the prisons and state convict camps. Also, the members of the legislature were urged to revise the whole prison system, so that while it is an institution to punish crime, it still may be made to uphold and restore the manhood of those whom it seeks to punish.

The resolutions followed the complaint made here during the visit of certain ministers, when an evangelist claimed he was not allowed to visit the Fulton county prisoners except on Sunday, and then his efforts to convert them were discouraged by officials.

The adopted resolutions state that the object of the penitentiary or prison is lost if the prisoner is made to suffer by his punishment so that he becomes degraded and hardened, and when he is turned out is more of a menace to society than when he entered the institution.

The resolutions further state that the penal institutions of Georgia are not such as to redeem any prisoner, and in their present condition cause much suffering.

BOSTON PAPER CALLED HIM "REV." J. R. SMITH

Campaign Manager and Real Estate Has Fine Moral Effect in Boston

J. R. Smith, campaign manager and real estate man of Atlanta, impressed at least one Boston newspaper with his piety, for that paper, which printed his picture along with those of several other members of the Old Guard, labeled him "Rev." J. R. Smith.

Whether the Boston paper was impressed with the fact that Mr. Smith looked like a preacher, or was the victim of a joke perpetrated by other members of the company, is not known.

The picture was taken on the recent appearance of the Old Guard in Boston on Memorial day, when it took part in the federal observances. Many social attentions were shown the Old Guard.

WITH CARTOONIST BREWERTON AT THE FORSYTH

Lillian Shaw, one of the cleverest women on the vaudeville stage, is back again at the Forsyth, and this week heads a pleasing bill which taxed the capacity of the playhouse Monday night.

Miss Shaw begins her act with a baseball song, which is a new one. It suits her inimitable style. She is one of the artists who would just as soon see how dowdy she can look, if it helps the song, as to wear a real Parisian model. She demonstrated this in her baby number, which is the most artistic thing she does.

Wright and Dietrich, old Atlanta favorites, again score in a clever duo. Both have good voices and pleasing personalities. Miss Dietrich, who is really Mrs. Wright, dresses in fetching fashion, and makes an excellent partner for her husband, who has a strong tenor voice. They received many encores.

Living statuary was portrayed by two well-built men and a beautifully formed woman in Seldom's "Poems in Marble." In one of the poses it was really hard to tell where the plaster left off and the living models began. This is one of the best living statuary acts ever seen here.

Ward and Curran are still comical, but their act this year is not the same rip-roaring farce as the "Terrible Judge."

Jack Hazard, a monologuist, kept the attention of the audience while he was in front. His deaf and dumb story was a corker.

A dancing number by two men opened the bill, and three acrobats closed the program.

ATLANTA WILL INVITE BANKERS' CONVENTION

Move Already on Foot to Bring American Bankers' Association Here in 1914

A movement to bring the 1914 convention of the American Bankers' association to Atlanta was launched formally Monday night when men foremost in local financial circles met with the members of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association at the Georgian Terrace hotel.

The bankers of the country meet this year in Boston, Mass., in October; and if present plans materialize a delegation from Atlanta will go to the Hub and bid for the next meeting to be held here.

A guarantee of 2,000 rooms has been asked. A committee was appointed to get to work at once and secure these accommodations.

CHAMBER PLANS FOR PERMANENT EXHIBIT

Manufacturers Are Working in Accord With Move to Show Atlanta-Made Goods

Plans for a permanent exhibit of Atlanta-made goods are shaping themselves rapidly toward a definite end, and indications point to the installation of just such a show within a short time.

Brooks A. Morgan, chairman of the exhibit committee of the chamber of commerce, declared that the preliminary work for making the exhibit a reality is progressing rapidly. He already has several suitable buildings in view that are located centrally.

Manufacturers of Atlanta are standing directly back of the chamber in the work and are lending their efforts toward a successful consummation of the plan.

Store Is Robbed

The grocery store of W. J. Burton, 155 Ormond street, was robbed early Tuesday morning of $200 worth of property notes, $50 or $60 of old coins and about forty pennies. Entrance to the store was gained through a rear window.

RECEPTION WEDNESDAY BY TRINITY STEWARDS

Delightful Church Affair Is Planned—Musical Program to Follow Buffet Supper

The board of stewards of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church have issued invitations to the members and their friends to a reception in the church Wednesday evening, June 4, from 6:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

During the first two hours in the Sunday school room, a buffet supper will be served to the guests, after which an appropriate program of music will be rendered in the main auditorium. The choir of the Tabernacle Baptist church will assist in the chorus.

DANIELS TO INSPECT YARDS ON PACIFIC

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Secretary Daniels returned today from a trip which included the dedication of the Maine memorial in New York, visits to the New York and Charlestown, Mass., navy yards and the opening of the naval war college at Newport, R. I. He plans to leave June 12 for a tour of inspection of the yards and naval stations on the Pacific coast.

GROSSMAN WON DOUGLASS MEDAL MONDAY NIGHT

Interesting Contest for Annual Prize Held at Atlanta Law School

Leonard J. Grossman was the winner of the Hamilton Douglas medal, which was contested by members of the Atlanta Law school Monday night. The contest was a close one, and the audience was kept in a high state of indecision until Judge Lumpkin announced the award. He was assisted in judging by Thomas Connally and Edwin L. Turner. The contest is an annual event.

The speakers were R. E. Lee Cone, J. R. McClelland, W. A. Hassell, Franklin S. Chalmers, Samuel M. Castleton, Pierce Burns, Brooks B. Patterson and Leonard J. Grossman. The debate was, "Resolved, That capital punishment should be abolished." John M. Owens, president of the Atlanta Law School Debating society, presided. No decision was made as to which side won, the judges merely deciding who was the best orator.

The winner, Mr. Grossman, is a member of the senior class, and matriculated at the school the first of the year. He had studied previously at the University of Chicago and the Chicago Kent College of Law. In the latter institution he was president of his class. He won the state championship at the University of Illinois, and has won other medals in interstate contests. He will practice law in Atlanta.

DYING FATHER CALLS FOR HIS SON, MYRICK HAILE

A letter has been received from Mrs. W. F. Haile, of Rutledge, Ga., askins that as much publicity as possible be given to a notice telling Myrick Haile to come home to his dying father.

From the contents of the letter it is evident that Myrick Haile is either in Texas or some other western state.

GUY SMITH DIES AT SEA; WAS OLD-TIME ATLANTIAN

Body Will Arrive Wednesday, Atlanta Lodge of Elks Will Conduct Funeral

Many old friends in Atlanta will be grieved to learn that Mr. Guy Smith is dead. News of his death at sea was received Tuesday in a telegram from his widow, in Savannah, to a friend in Atlanta. The telegram conveyed the further information that Mrs. Smith will arrive in Atlanta with the body Wednesday morning at 6:25 o'clock.

The funeral will be conducted under the direction of the Atlanta lodge of Elks, of which Mr. Smith was a member for many years up to the time of his death. H. M. Patterson & Son will have charge of the remains.

Years ago Mr. Smith was connected with the traffic department of the Central of Georgia railway, with an office in Atlanta. He left that company to assume a connection with the Southern Tariff association, and about twelve years ago he moved to Philadelphia to establish his office there for the association. He was on his way from Philadelphia to Savannah when he died.

FINED FOR ASKING LADY TO DRINK WITH HIM

Because he asked Mrs. W. H. Lift to have a drink with him, L. S. Johnson, a banker from Fitzgerald, Ga., was fined $50.75 by Recorder Pro Tem. W. H. Preston in police court Tuesday morning.

Johnson came to Atlanta from Fitzgerald Monday morning, he says, getting a room at a boarding house, 53 1-2 Alabama street. When he saw Mrs. Lift pass his door Monday morning he asked her in to have a drink. She had him arrested.

Johnson pleaded guilty to being drunk.

BLACK EYE SHOWN IN COURT AS EVIDENCE

A black eye exhibited as evidence in the recorder's court room Tuesday morning resulted in a fine of $25.75 being given B. C. Davis, arrested in a local club Monday afternoon on the charge of disorderly conduct.

The eye belonged to B. L. Cecil, who claimed that he met Davis in the club and that th elatter pounded him in the face with no provocation whatsoever.

DID MURDER OR ACCIDENT CAUSE DEATH IN FIRE?

It was empty, but had not been broken open. Did the alleged murderers take it for granted that there was no money in the bank without looking?

FOUR KNIVES FOUND.

Four knives have been found about the place, two in the ashes of the house, one by the gate about twenty yards away, and another in the cutthroat far merly occupied by Wilkes, about 100 yards from the house. Mr. Stevens could not identify any as belonging to any one in his family. The two found in the ruins might have been under the house, the one found by the gate had lain there in the rain. It had not rained from the time the house burned until the knife was found. The knife in the outhouse had been left evidently there by Wilkes when he formerly worked for the Stevens.

The axe was found in the outhouse. Mr. Stevens said that this was the new axe which always was kept there.

A Bible was found in the outhouse. It was marked, whether by the negro Wilkes or by Mrs. Stevens herself, who gave it to him, no one has yet shown.

Wade Stevens told Walter Wilkes on Tuesday night that his mother and sister were alone. Wilkes told him that he was going out to the house some time to get his old job back. L. G. Self, a neighbor of the Stevens, says he saw a man hanging around the Stevens home Tuesday afternoon. He thought it was Wade Stevens. Wade has an alibi which shows him present in Atlanta at that hour. Self does not know whether the man was white or black.

This is the most suspicious circumstance that connects Wilkes with the crime, if crime there was, that he knew the women were alone that Tuesday night. The only circumstance that seems to connect Maynard with the crime, is that he was a great chum of Wilkes. Both formerly worked for the Stevens family, each is said to have had a bad reputation, and to have acted suspiciously.

If Wilkes and Maynard did not commit the crime, they can prove alibis at once. In the meantime they are being held, detectives believing that if they are guilty they will confess.

EXHIBIT WEDNESDAY OF TECH HIGH BOYS' WORK

Public Invited to See What City's Tech Students Have Learned

On Wednesday, June 4, between the hours of 12:30 and 2:30, there will be a general exhibit at the Tech High school on Marietta street. Specimens of work finished in the several shops and drawing departments will be on exhibit. Boys will also be at work in the chemical laboratory, forge shop, wood shop, machinery shop and drawing rooms.

The public is invited to attend and view the work in progress and that accomplished. The patrons especially are urged to attend. All the eighth grade boys, accompanied by the principals of the Grammar schools, will visit Tech High on this day.

Much work and preparation has preceded this interesting exhibit, and it is promised as a revelation to all who view it.

STATE OFFICIALS BUSY DESPITE LEGAL HOLIDAY

Despite the fact that Tuesday is the birthday of Jeff Davis, president of the Confederacy and a legal holiday in the south, the officials in the state captiol, were, with few exceptions, at their desks as though it were a real work day.

The absentees were Governor Joseph M. Brown, his private secretary, Jesse G. Perry, Chairman C. Murphey Candler, of the railroad commission, and State Game Commissioner Jesse E. Mercer. State Treasurer W. J. Speer was at his desk, but announced his office was closed for the day.

Secretary of State Phil Cook, General William A. Wright, insurance commissioner; Executive Secretary A. Hardy Ulm, along with the department of agriculture and the state entomologist, were all busy. The supreme court was also in session on account of a number of out of town attorneys who came for a hearing.

DODSON'S LIVER TONE GIVES EASY RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

A Liver Remedy that Replaces Calomel and Causes No Restriction of Habit or Diet

It is a mistake to take calomel when your liver is lazy and needs toning up. Hundreds of people in this section have discovered that Dodson's Liver Tone is a thousand times better and safer and its action is just as sure. There are none of the bad after-effects of calomel to Dodson's Liver Tone and no danger of salivation.

For attacks of constipation or biliousness one or two spoonsful of this mild, pleasant tasting vegetable liquid are enough and all druggists are glad to give a personal guarantee that every bottle will do all that is claimed for it. Money back in any case where it fails.

Dodson's Liver Tone costs only 50 cents for a large bottle. Remember the name because there are any number of remedies sold in imitation of Dodson's claims. Some of them have names very similar to Dodson's Liver Tone—and are in same color package. These imitations are not guaranteed and may be very harmful. Go to your own druggist when you know and you will surely get the genuine.—(Advt.)

ALABAMA RATE CASE HEARD BY THREE JUDGES

L. & N. Railroad Seeks to Enjoin State—First Case Under New Act

A hearing of a petition of the Louisville and Nashville railroa dfor an injunction against the Alabama railroad commission was begun in the federal court Tuesday before Judges Pardee and Shelby, of the circuit court, and Judge Grubb, of the federal court of the northern district of Alabama.

The petition is to enjoin the commission from enforcing an order compelling the Louisville and Nashville railroad to reduce its passenger faree to 2 1-2 cents a mile.

This is the first hearing to be brought under the act of congress passed last March which requires that injunctions of this character shall be heard before three federal judges, at least one of whom shall be a circuit judge.

Appearing for the state of Alabama in this case are Attorney General sented by H. L. Stone, general counsel; S. J. Bowie and W. A. Colston. Bricknell, H. C. Selheimer and S. D. Wickley; while the railroad is repre-

W. F. PARKHURST TO TALK BEFORE TWO CONVENTIONS

W. F. Parkhurst, of Atlanta, advertising manager in the Atlanta office of the Orange Judd company, former president of the Atlanta Ad Men's club, owner of the Cafe Denechaud, and a few other things, is in demand as a speaker.

Within the next week he will deliver two convention addresses.

On Wednesday he will leave for Charleston, in the company of Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau. In Charleston, on Thursday afternoon, he will address the Southern Commercial Secretaries' association on "The Ad Club Movement." The association's membership is composed of the secretaries of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce in the south.

On Saturday Mr. Parkhurst and Mr. Houser will leave Charleston with the Charleston Ad Men for Baltimore, to attend the national convention there of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America. In that convention on June 10 Mr. Parkhurst will speak on "The Opportunity and Duty of the Advertising Men's Clubs."

ATLANTIANS BUSY CATCHING FINE TARPON

George Lizotte Composes a Poem on the Pelican and Issues a Challenge

Atlantians are figuring conspicuously this year in fine tarpon fishing off the west coast of Florida. The St. Petersburg Independent, in a current issue, tells how H. W. Brown, of Atlanta, who was fishing off Pass-a-Grille with George Lizotte, landed four big ones in one day.

Mr. Lizotte, the genial Frenchman who makes two stone crabs grow where only one grew before, is well known to Atlantians. The only thing more plentiful than tarpon this year on the west coast are pelicans. Mr. Krown has sent to Atlanta a copy of a poem just composed by Lizotte, in which the latter thus epitomizes the noble fowl:

"There's a curious bird called the pelican—
Whose mouth holds more than his belican.
He stuffs into his beak
Enough grub for a week.
Though I don't see how in helican."

Mr. Lizotte, in his Gascon exuberance, has made a standing proposition that he will pay all the traveling expenses from Atlanta and back, for any fisherman who comes to visit him and fails to get at least one tarpon.

Silks At Splendid Savings

Crepe de Chines, Crepe Meteors, Shirtings and Chiffons At Clearaway Prices

Read the list again—crepe de chines that have been hard to get all season are included and crepe meteors, aristocrats among silks, and the wanted and washable and seasonable silk shirtings and exquisite chiffons for evening dresses. Hard to gather a more representative and likable lot!

Still they are reduced—reduced is hardly the word for it. Prices are cut to the very quick—in this fashion:

$1.00 Silk Shirtings 79c

33 inches wide, white grounds striped with black, navy, heliotrope stripes of various widths—a fine assortment. The quality is splendid, heavy with pure silk, the kind that makes many trips to the laundry. And the vogue for silk shirts is great.

$1.50 Crepe de Chines $2.00 Chiffons at 83c

Figured crepe de chines 24 inches wide—splendid for summer dresses. Patterns show little flowers spread across surfaces of navy, Alice, taupe and brown. Also at this price are figured chiffons that were $2 a yard and plain and two-toned taffetas and striped silk and wool eoliennes in cream.

$2.50, $3 Crepe de Chines and Crepe Meteors at $1.69

They are 44 inches wide. The crepe de chine, a beautiful quality, heavy, softly draping in a rich shade of navy.

The crepe meteors are in lilac, light blue, apricot brown and palm green.

$2.50 to $4 Crepes and Embroidered Chiffons $1.79

They are 44 inches wide. In colors and designs for evening dresses—pink and light blue embroidered over with silver, mais and white; chiffon crepes in delicate shades with deep borders. All exquisite materials, not to be confused because of the low prices with odds and ends—but this you will note the moment you clap eyes on them.

Now For the Quick Disposal of Untrimmed Hats

Shapes That Were $2.50 to $10.00 Are 95c

There are two hundred forty-nine of them.

Milan, split Belgian, hemp, imitatation hemp.

Red, gren brown, tan, taupe, gray and a few black.

Medium and small shapes; but what a variety the words medium and small cover! They are all shapes that this season has brought out, which tells worlds about little upturned brims, small rounded crowns, bent-over brims and others including the one that you will want.

And they are all now marked at 95c which, with a bit of ribbon or a wing or feathers or flowers, and a new hat has cost very, very little.

Will you be your own milliner?

The selling starts with the opening of the store at 8 o'clock.

Ready With All the Cotton Crepes and Voiles Now in the Height of Women's Favor

As the buyer puts it, "Cotton crepes and voiles are strong."

And here they are, a seemingly endless variety. Such a variety that completely sets a women at rest; she knows in a moment that here she will find just what she wants without a shading one way or the other.

Certainly that is satisfying, and what cool, charming dresses it means for the warm weather season.

There are plain crepes in white and colors, there are crepes with embroidered dots, crepes with ratine stripes, stripes sometimes in colors, sometimes all white, there are crepes with ratine checks, there are voiles—one kind after another of just plain voiles, ratine striped voiles that look much heavier than they are and voiles with borders of ratine—but the list would grow much longer than space permits and then the pleasure of it all is seeing this splendid display and the wide price range and choosing just the color and quality and pattern and all you like best.

Tomorrow will be the last opportunity.

Georgia's Rank as a Road Builder.

In the recently published Good Roads Year Book for 1913, Georgia ranks well among the States that are distinguished for their interest in highway development. Indiana still leads in mileage of improved roads, with twenty-four thousand, nine hundred and fifty-five miles to her credit; Masachusetts leads in percentage of roads improved, with fifty-six and eight-tenths per cent; but Georgia has twenty-two thousand and forty-three miles of improved roads, which is not much behind Indiana's record and which is considerably in excess of the total road mileage of Massachusetts. It is noteworthy, too, that Georgia leads New York both in mileage and percentage of improved highways, though in the number of miles of good roads constructed during the past year or so New York heads the national list.

This is a gratifying record but Georgians should remember that other States in the South as well as in the East and North and West are now putting extraordinary exertion to develop State-wide systems of highways, are appropriating millions of dollars either through legislative acts or through bond issues, are creating highway commissions and are availing themselves of all the advantages which business supervision and engineering skill afford. We must face the fact that while our individual counties have shown fine energy and enthusiasm in improving their local roads, the State itself has not yet placed its centralized recources and its guidance behind this highly important work. What Georgia lacks is a well considered plan for developing a system of State highways; and until she adopts such a plan, the labor and money spent by the counties independently will not produce due results.

The resources for road building, Georgia has in abundance; it is now simply a question of using those resources economically and for all they are worth. Through the abolishment of the convict lease system, the Legislature placed at the disposal of the counties a steady supply of labor for highway improvement. Thus we can build far more cheaply than can the majority of States and we can keep uninterruptedly at the task. In addition to this, many, if not most, Georgia counties appropriate substantial funds for road development. The citizen who does realize the far-reaching value of good roads and who is not willing that a liberal portion of the tax money be allotted to that purpose is a rare exception. A number of communities willingly vote bond issues for highway work. And so, there is available in Georgia today a large amount of money as well as a large force of labor for the good roads cause.

If the Legislature will now take the needed and logical step and supplement these material resources with efficient State supervision, we shall make more rapid progress and obtain more lasting results than ever before in our road building endeavors. To this end there should be established a State Highway Commission, not for the purpose of dictating methods or procedures to the individual counties but for the purpose of helping each county to solve its peculiar problems and of uniting them all for their common good. Through such a commission, the highest engineering skill could be made available for every county at comparatively nominal expense. The convicts could be worked more economically, road material and machinery could be purchased more intelligently, the county funds would go further and buy more and, what is especially important, all the counties could work co-operatively toward the development of a State-wide system of roads. This plan has frequently been proposed and is sanctioned, we believe, by almost everyone who has given thought to the practical side of highway development. The incoming Legislature would render valuable service by passing a bill to this effect.

The Good Roads Year Book shows that there has been appreciable but not unusual progress in highway building throughout the country. At the close of the year 1911 there were two million, two hundred and twenty-two thousand, to hundred and forty-eight miles of public roads in the United States. But there were only two hundred and twenty-four thousand, four hundred and eighty-five miles of improved roads, or a little more than ten per cent of the total mileage. That, however, represents an increase of about one and a half per cent over the figures of the preceding year.

If the plans now under way to secure the encouragement and aid of the federal government in road building materialize, this record will soon show a wonderful increase. Good roads mean so much to the social as well as to the agricultural and commercial progress of the entire country that they demand national support. It is calculated that in wagon transportation alone poor roads cost the people of the United States some four hundred million dollars a year. Surely, it is the duty of Congress to take definite, practical steps toward relieving the nation of this heavy and unnecessary burden. Nor can there be much doubt that Congress will take favorable action on this important matter in the not distant future. A joint committee of the House and Senate is now making an exhaustive study of the subject and will report upon the most advisable means of providing federal aid for the construction and maintenance of good roads. It is a significant fact that within the past two years some forty-eight bills with that end in view have been introduced. There could be no surer evidence that public sentiment and public judgment the country over are making themselves felt in this vital cause. The most recent and most important of such measures was introduced in the Senate last January by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, a member of this joint committee referred to. This bill provides for an appropriation of twenty-five million dollars "to be appropriated among the various States, one-half on the basis of population and one-half on the basis of rural delivery routes, the conditions being that each of the States should provide an equal amount and providing, further, that no State should receive less than one hundred thousand dollars."

There are cheering omens that some such measure will be enacted; and when it is, there will spring up throughout the United States a great revival of highway building that will lead to a more prosperous and progressive nation.

To him that hath trouble more shall be given.

Any man without friends is a man without money.

The bunko artist never wastes any time on the hobo.

It takes other people to see the silver lining of our clouds.

A Valuable Good Roads Book.

The Good Roads Year Book for 1913, published by the American Highway Association whose headquarters are at Washington, D. .., is a volume of remarkable interest and value. Besides giving complete and official information concerning the progress and status of road building in practically all the States of the Union, the Year Book contains useful chapters on divers problems of highway construction and maintenance, such for instance as bridges and culverts, dust preventives, bond issues, convict labor, manufacturers of road machinery and material, the road systems of foreign countries, road upkeep and repair and the various types of roads in this country.

Indeed, there is to be found in this volume facts or suggestions on nearly every aspect of the subject of highway development. It is one of the undertakings of the American Highway Association which was organized in 1910 "to harmonize and correlate all efforts for the improvement of the public roads, to the end that adequate and efficient systems of road construction, administration and maintenance may be adopted in all of the States. The Association has rendered a distinctive service in having put forth so helpful a book; and to its editor, Mr. J. E. Pennybacker, Jr., and its business manager, Mr. Charles P. Light, particular credit is due.

The Last of the Laureates.

Alfred Austin, who died in London yesterday, at the ripe age of seventy-seven, was an amiable gentleman, an earnest scholar, in his day a competent journalist, and a voluminous writer of prose and verse. It remains only to be said that since 1896 he held the title of Britain's poet laureate.

It has been suggested that this honor will not again be formally bestowed, in which event Mr. Austin's chief distinction will lie in the fact that he was the last of an illustrious succession which included such names as those of Spenser, Ben Jonson, John Dryden, Robert Southey, Wordsworth and Tennyson. There have also been poets laureate like Thomas Shadwell, Lawrence Eusden and Henry Pye —forgotten long ago. There is no good reason of maintaining an office simply for the purpose of filling it. Mr. Austin would have been more fortunate without his title and the critics would have had less cause to grow waggish.

It's never too early to mend, either.

THE SEX AND ALCOHOL BOMB-THROWERS

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

Mr. Roosevelt's attempt to obtain damages in a court of law for injury done to his reputation is of interest to every decent man and woman in the country.

It is an odd state of things that, while one's reputation is his dearest possession, it is that which is least protected and most exposed to the attack of his enemies.

Ordinarily when a man is slandered he can but keep silence and trust to his record and to the loyalty of his friends, because retaliation makes matters worse. *But the blood often boils at the thought of the infa*mous power of the mud-slinger.

We are living practically under a government by public opinion, which, take it all in all, is about the best sort of government yet devised. It has, however, its drawbacks.

A reputation is the work of years; into it a man puts his whole life. Any malicious human insect can destroy it in a moment, or damage it.

The slanderer is on a level with the bomb-thrower; he is the spiritual nihilist. With a few dollars worth of dynamite the anarchist can blow up a building; with a few choice words the blackmailer can wreck a family.

The two standard themes favored by the slanderer are Sex and Alcohol.

Speaking of Alcohol, perhaps nothing has done more to alienate good people from the various "temperance" movements that from time to time have swept the country, than the vicious cruelty, not to say nastymindedness, of those whom Howard Crosby used to call "temperance wild beast."

I remember once sitting by the side of President McKinley at a banquet, where to my certain knowledge he took one sip of champagne and then pushed his wine glasses away. The next day he was branded as a "drinker" by the prohibition papers, and I heard many an editorial in "religious" papers, condemning him for his tippling. This is more than unjust; it is nasty.

In all Sex stories people have a morbid interest. The duty of newspapers regarding news items of this kind is a serious one. Some publicity for divorce proceedings, and similar cases which make good reading matter solely because of their lubricity, is doubtless necessary. But the temptation to go beyond the line of public morals is tremendous, and few journals are without blame.

When a slanderer owns a newspaper what is the aggrieved citizen to do? It is interesting to note that Ben Franklin, himself a printer as well as a philosopher and statesman, expressed himself on this point. He insisted that there should be no law curbing the freedom of the press, but saw that a man unjustly attacked ought to have some redress, and, therefore, suggested that he be allowed to "lick the editor."

Are there loopholes in our civilization cracks and crevices of personal rights the law does not cover? Is the argument of fists and raw-hiding ever justifiable? Far be it from me to say yes; but if there do exist such exceptional instances they are those where the cads and blackguards make use of the Sex or Alcohol story to satisfy their dirty vengeance.

I confess that all such scandalous exposure make me sick at the stomach, and I would to God we might somehow be spared them.

Captain Barnacle's Log.

BY JOHN H. WISHAR

"Only once in my career did I sail with a mutinous crew," said Captain Barnacle, "and that was one of the luckiest voyages that ever I made, in spite of the fact I was marooned on a desolate island in the south Pacific ocean. I was in command of the schooner Helvitia, carrying dyes and spice woods from India to London. We were going home by the way of Cape Horn in place of taking the shorter cut by Good Hope, as I wanted to touch at Neuricita. But the owners were typical English shipping men and were stingy in the way in which they provisioned the vessel, and it wasn't long before the crew were complaining. They were a hard lot, too, and the first thing I knew they mutined. I was seized by five of them and clapped in irons. Then they told me they were going to turn pirates and traders and spend their lives in the southern islands enjoying themselves.

"After being held a prisoner for ten days they put me ashore on a small island, with only a few palm trees and a little undergrowth. The island was scarcely a mile in diameter. They pulled back to the ship and left me there with a keg of water and a box of hardtack. When the schooner sailed away I sat down and thought it was all day with me. I wished I was at the bottom of Davy Jones's locker. I wandered along the beach disconsolate until I found an oyster shell. I was hungry and opened it at once. The oyster was fine, but to my surprise and delight I discovered a fine pearl in it.

"Well, sir, all my desire to die vanished at once. My mutinous crew had done me a great favor. By chance they had placed me on one of the few undiscovered pearl islands on the south seas. It didn't take me long to get to work. The shells were nearly all in shallow water, and all I had to do was to scoop them out and spread them on the sand to dry. It wasn't even necessary to dive for them. For three weeks I worked, and when I came to clean the shells I had a whole backful of the rarest kind of pearls, and all of a fine size, too.

"But then came the problem of getting away from the island. This was a puzzler for a while, but after thinking the matter over for a while I decided to build a boat out of the pearl shells. The island was of coral formation, and in the center was a substance something like clay. I used this stuff to cement the shells together, and at the end of the week I had a fine boat constructed, with a pretty little cabin and a mast made of the same material. I used my shirt for a sail, and this did very well, as the oyster-shell boat was so light it floated like a cork.

"I made sail for Samoa and was picked up by the liner Korea after being out for ten days. I was offered $1,000 for my oyster-shell boat by a wealthy passenger on board, who got the captain to hoist it on the deck. When I reached San Francisco I sold my pearls for $38,324, and with this money I bought a nice little bark. So you see it was a rather profitable voyage for me, after all, in spite of the fact that my crew turned mutineers."

False Pretenses

When first the snow of age appeared
And flecked my raven locks with white,
The heavy hand of time I feared
And trembled with a nameless fright.
I thought of pains and aching bones,
And creaking joints and rheumy eyes,
And querulous and scolding tones,
And reminiscences and sighs.

But, like an angel unaware,
I found the herald of old age;
He lifted from me many a care
And named me "wiseacre" and "sage."
He brought respect and slippered ease,
Brought youth to seek my grave advice—
Ah, he is welcome, if you please;
I don't begrudge his paltry price!

I find it joy to sit in state
And have young folk indulge my whims
And readily upon me wait,
Regardful of my "poor old limbs."
But one thing mars my perfect joy—
I want to run and dance and play,
For I'm as spry as any boy—
But that would give the game away!

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS.

RECRUDESCENCE.

Age is a myth the long years through,
From silvery locks that threaten you
With waning strength, and toll the knell
Of youthful spirits none can tell
What future power may spring anew.

Upon us all as days accrue,
Some change must come, some brighter hue;
There are no words that can excel:
"Age is a myth."

O Time, 'tis useless to pursue
With outspread wings the favored few
O'er whom thou canst not cast they spell—
For mother knows the one-step well,
And does not grandma tango too?—
Age IS a myth!

It was learned yesterday that Charles W. THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

May 28.—Up by times and to my office all the morning, where labouring. With my attorneys to luncheon and thence home, where finding nobody, I did take down my xylophone and played more than an hour, many melodies, but I did not play very well, albeit I do play better so than when I do have listeners. Came Murdock Pemberton the theatrickali agent and he hath let a moustache to grow upon his lip, which made him look quite old, perhaps all of 25 yrs. Working all the evening at writing and then to-bed, where I did read Mr. C. Van Loan's "Nine Assists and Two Errors" and deemed it a merry tayle.

29.—Up very early, what with the bugles blowing on the warships that lie in the river and are brave sights, but I had liefer not see them than to be awakened thus early. To the ballpark with D. Runyon the scrivener and Peter Kyne the famed author *from Cali*fornia that is come to see our city and I did wager 4s. with Damon that Mr. Cravath would hit the ball safely, laying odds of as many times as he should come to bat, to one, and he hit safely in the first innings, and D. gave me 4s., which is the first ever I won from him. More news from Michigan of my Lord Theodore and his sobriety. To Mistress Florence's for dinner and then petroleum-waggon riding until eleven and so home and to-bed.

An athletic acquaintance of F. W. H.'s puts his plants in a receptacle, but the foliage hasn't come out very well.

A Yonkers press agent thus complains to the local papers:

"To the censor on the Papers
Now please if this does not suit you or any part of it does not suit you do not start in and cut out any old part of it—use a little common sense and at least letit be intelligable to the public. In the Thursdays write up you all cut the articles until it looked like a chinese laundry ad. One of you had the "Unwilling Separation" as the title to the Battle of Gettysburgh" and other things in it changed to look just as foolish. Also some of you cut out the time of performances and prices. If you have to cut the length cut it so that which you leave looks at least ass if we knew what we were trying to talk about."

These write ups that we send to you suits us and cost us a whole lot of thinking to even do this well and we well know that we ar very apt to get things wrong but the Titles and such never?

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

I.—THE CRUSADE AGAINST FRAUD.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The committee appointed to draw up regulations for the enforcement of the new federal net weight law will begin to hold hearings in New York on June 9, when manufacturers, dealers and others interested in the provisions of these regulations will be examined. The law was signed on March 3, the last day of the Taft administration, and is to go into effect eighteen months after that date. It requires that the quantity of the contents of all food packages shall be plainly marked on the outside in terms of weight measure or numerical count. It includes the provision that reasonable allowance shall be made for tolerance and exemption.

• • •

Upon the proper interpretation of this last provision rests the real value of the law. The act that "a reasonable variation from the stated weight is permissible provided this variation is as often above as below the weight or volume stated. This variation shall be determined by the inspector from the changes in the humidity of the atmosphere, from the exposure of the package to evaporation or to absorption of moisture and reasonable variations which attend the filling and weighing of packages." The committee authorized to make the regulations governed by this provision include representatives of the secretary of commerce, the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of the treasury.

• • •

The secretary of commerce, through the bureau of standards, has the authority to determine the justice of the weights and measures used. The representative of the department of agriculture must fix the measure of variation in the weights and measures of food stuffs according to laboratory tests conducted by experts upon the samples furnished for that purpose by the manufacturers of the various products. The treasury is represented because of the duties imposed upon imported *food stuffs which come under the jurisdic*tion of the law and also because, until the establishment of the bureau of standards under the department of commerce, the matters regarding weights and measures were all under the direction of the treasury department.

• • •

The new law is designed primarily to protect the public from loss by insufficient weights and measures, but it is not intended that any injustice shall be done to dealers and manufacturers. Such circumstances as a cheese shipped from Wisconsin to Colorado losing several pounds in weight from the change in temperature and atmospheric conditions will form the basis of some of the claims presented by manufacturers at the hearings beginning in New York this month. Consideration will also be given to a reasonable variance in the weights of packages and wrappings.

• • •

Previous to the hearings in New York hearings were conducted in Washington on the problem of the capacity of bottles and jars manufactured by the glass blowers for the handling of liquor products. The discrepancies in these articles were a surprise to the members of the committee as they demonstrated that few of the bottles had a capacity for the content they were supposed to carry. The thickness of the glass, the presence of air bubbles, the quantity of glass taken up by the blower and its heat, all enter into the problem of manufacturing bottles which will be uniform in their capacity. The bottles tested were from the hand blowers. The manufacturers of machine blown bottles claim a greater uniformity for their products, but the test has not yet been made to prove this assumption, although it will be included in the work of the weights and measures committee.

• • •

There is no subject more closely in touch with the daily life of every man, woman and child in the country than that regarding weights and measures. This nation has been almost criminally lax in this direction. While the people have had protection from menaces of every other kind, they have as yet had no protec*tion from short weights* and measures and their annual losses from this neglect are incredible. The investigations made regarding the high cost of living point clearly to the losses from this cause and a crusade for protection from such loss is a sweeping one in every community in which the matter has been brought into public notice.

• • •

The population of the United States is nearly 95,000,000. At least two-thirds of this number can be fairly considered as buyers of some commodity. If each of these were to suffer from even the daily loss of a mill, the tenth part of a cent, the amount would approximate $25,000,000 in a year. Yet the investigations conducted by experts in all parts of the country indicate that the average loss is many times a mill each day and has been steadily upon the increase for the last twenty years.

• • •

Those who have given attention to the improvement of city governments now recognize the importance of the department of weights and measures and definite plans for the establishment of such a department can readily be secured. This department should have absolute supervision and complete control over all the different measuring devices in use in that city. For a city with a population of 100,000 this deparament should include a chief with four assistants, one each of the latter being responsible for the measuring of (1) gas meters, (2) water meters, (3) electric meters, and (4) of weights, scales and measures. This last assistant, who may be known as the city scaler, should be required to have an inspection made every three months of all the scales and measures used in the trade and should be furnished with seals for marking those which are of the required standards, and authority for compelling the destruction of those which fall short.

• • •

The discrepancy in the measures between the *differ*ent states is one of the matters causing trouble alike to dealers and individual purchasers throughout the country. The United States standard bushel contains 2,150.42 cubic inches, but this is not required by all of the state laws. The difference between liquid and dry measure is not generally recognized and it is the basis of millions of dollars of loss to the American consumer each year. The quart, dry measure, should contain 67.20 cubic inches, being one thirty-second part of a bushel. Yet the average dealer sells most articles supposedly for dry measure by the liquid quart which contains only 57.75 cubic inches, a difference of nearly 15 per cent. It is estimated that beans alone the public loses over $1,000,000 each year by the substitution of liquid measure for dry and as yet, in most states, the dealers doing this are quite safe from any legal penalty.

CREMATORY IS PURCHASED FOR $260,000 CASH

Mayor Woodward Satisfied, Believes His Position Benefited City—Specials Stopped

General council Monday afternoon bought the new crematory for $260,000, of which amount $125,000 is to be paid at once and the balance ($135,000) when the plant demonstrates that with proper operation it will fulfill its operating guarantees.

The action was unanimous and was in accordance with the plan recommended by the finance committee, after negotiating with representatives of the Destructor company.

After approving this general plan, council instructed the finance committee to work out the details. First, the committee is instructed to put $135,000 in the June budget, and to that end the committee met at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and started to work. Second, the committee and the city attorney are instructed to draw a new contract. The budget and the contract will be reported back to council Tuesday afternoon, at which time council will hold a special meeting for the purpose.

Last, council passed a resolution authorizing the Destructor company to continue work on the plant pending the execution of the new contract, and a resolution instructing the finance committee to take an option for an electric generating plant of 1,500 kilowatts capacity to be built in connection with the crematory, the city to give notice at any time within twelve months for the company to commence work on the electric plant, and to pay not more than $102,000 for the same.

Thus all the advantageous features of the original contract, which the state supreme court held to be illegal, are preserved in the new contract.

The January budget carried $125,000 to pay on the crematory. This amount will be brought forward to the June budget, and $135,000 additional will be provided.

SPECIAL PROJECTS STOPPED.

In order to provide this additional amount, the finance committee will have to stop all the special projects which were scheduled to be commenced in June, among them being the nurses' dormitory at Grady hospital, the English Commercial school for girls, the Eighth ward engine house, Whitehall street regrading, etc.

Some council members, especially Councilman Hall, were loath to make these sacrifices, but when it came to the final show-down they voted for the purchase of the crematory. Councilman Hall is chairman of the street committee and was ambitious to make a new record for street work in 1913.

The aldermanic board will meet Thursday afternoon immediately following the adjournment of council and will concur in the budget and the contract, so that both will be ready for the mayor's approval Friday morning.

Mayor Woodward is not expected to continue his opposition. He is not quite satisfied with the price, wanting it for still less, but he regards the supreme court decision as a great victory, because it will henceforth hold the city down to a strictly cash basis.

MAYOR IS PLEASED.

Also he is convinced that on account of his opposition the destructor company has built the best plant it ever built anywhere, and completed it in record-breaking time. These considerations affore. the mayor so much satisfaction that he is willing to withdraw his opposition and let the purchase of the plant go through.

Credit is due Councilman Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee, for his far-sighted financial policy in January. As usual, council wanted to anticipate practically all the city's increase for the year and spend it at that time. He stubbornly held out against this program and was supported by the finance committee, his contention being that the city should spend only a small part of its increase in January, the supreme balance for June.

Events have vindicated the wisdom of this policy, for, had the city spent all of its increase in January, the supreme court decision would now put the city in an almost impossible situation. The only relief would be to stop work that is actually under way, and perhaps to borrow money.

Whereas, by holding back a surplus, the city is able to meet the emergency by "digging up" $135,000 and buying the crematory for cash.

TRIBUTE TO BOYS WHO QUIT BOOKS FOR WAR

(By Associated Press.)

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., June 3.—Those students who left the University of North Carolina during the war between the states were memorialized today when Governor Locke Craig presented for the state the monument erected in their honor.

Governor Craig described the entrance of Sherman's army and the prayer meetings held for protection by the desolate families, who had sent their sons to war never to return.

"The university was consumed by the war," he said, "only one member of the class of 1865 graduating."

FULTON MEMBER FAVORS PRISON REFORM PROBE

Representative-Elect Smith Will Support Bill for Commission to Investigate

John Y. Smith, representative-elect from Fulton county, has announced that he will be strongly in favor of a measure providing for the appointment of a special commission by the Georgia assembly, to go fully into the question of improving the state's antiquated penal code and reforming prison conditions.

"I shall be in favor of and shall vote for the appointment of such a commission, because I believe that whatever reforms are made in Georgia's present penal system should be made conservatively and after full investigation of the facts. I think the Prison Association of Georgia is working along exactly the right lines, by suggesting the appointment of such a commission.

"I am also in favor of the measure designed to legalize the suspension of sentence by judges in appropriate cases. The recent supreme court decision has emphasized the fact that no judge now has any right under the law to suspend sentence, yet cases are coming up continually and will continue to come up, where the interests of justice can be served best by such suspension. I am in favor of putting careful safeguards around such power, and I am informed that the bill in which the Prison association is interested does carry safeguards that will protect the power from abuse."

NORMAL CLASS GRADUATED AT GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL

With elaborate exercises held in Browning hall of the Girls' High school, twenty-one young women, composing the normal class of the school, were graduated Monday afternoon. The diplomas were presented to the graduates by W. R. Daley, president of the board of education.

The address of the occasion was made by Major Robert Gunn, and a musical program arranged by the class was rendered. Among the songs sung were "Lullaby" and "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

The graduates are: Misses Lillian Bloodworth, Caroline Campbell, Willie Carmichael, Sally DeSaussure, Annie Ruth Estes, Clara May Fowler, Irene Hancock, Fannie Henley, Annie Whiteford Hill, Sarah Holmes, Louise Leiper, Fannie Marshall, Ruth Miller, Lida Moore, Hortense Moran, Lillian Reeves, Mattie Lou Richardson, Ethel Stanard and Vivian Winston.

Miss May Postell is head of the normal department.

FORMER SECRETARY TO ALEX STEPHENS DIES

Colonel Charles W. Seidel, Pioneer Atlantian, Passed Away Tuesday

Colonel Charles W. Seidel, former secretary to Alexander Hamilton Stephens, vice president of the Confederate States, died at his rooms in the Grand building at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

His death marks the passing of another pioneer, one of the old regime of Atlanta's early days, who carved a name for himself beside that of Georgia's bravest defenders in the war between the states.

Born in Pennsylvania seventy years ago, Colonel Seidel came south several years before the war. He supported the cause of his adopted country and served with honor and distinction as an officer in the Confederate army. For a long time he was secretary to the vice president of the Confederacy, Alexander H. Stephens, until that statesman's death in the early eighties.

Following the war Colonel Seidel was associated for many years with Joseph E. Brown, war governor of Georgia, in the work of the Western and Atlantic railroad.

He has lived in Atlanta for the last thirty or forty years. Surviving him are two sons, Stafford Seidel, of Atlanta, and Dr. Atherton Seidel, of Washington, D. C.

The body has been removed to H. M. Patterson's chapel, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CHARLES D. BARKER DIES AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Prominent Newspaper Man Was Run Over by Street Car Last Fall, Dying Tuesday

Charles D. Barker, a resident of Atlanta for over thirty years and at one time a prominent figure in local newspaper circles, died at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday morning at his residence, 112 Ogiethorpe avenue, from the effects of an accident he suffered last November.

On the third day of that month Mr. Barker was run down by a street car. Complications set in, and although he spent several months in Florida this winter in the hope that his health would be improved, he began to sink rapidly on his return to Atlanta about a month ago.

Mr. Barker was for many years editor of the Southern Star. Five years ago he discontinued this work, and became identified with local newspaper circulations bureaus. He has done no active work since the accident that fall which finally resulted in his death.

Surviving him are his widow and two sons, Charles D. Barker, Jr., and Leonard Barker. The funeral will occur at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from Barclay & Brandon's chapel, and interment will be at Oakland cemetery.

EAGLES' NUMBER OF THE ATLANTIAN IS ISSUED

The June number of the Atlantian is out and its appearance and contents are the equal of any preceding issue and the superior of many. The new number is devoted to the fraternal order of Eagles and is quite replete with news interesting not only to members of the organization but to the public as well.

Pictures are shown of the officers of the local aerie and many of the members, besides which is a long editorial devoted to discussion of the plans and purposes of the Eagles. The Atlantian is as usual steeped with the "Atlanta spirit" from cover to cover.

F. A. HOOPER ATTACKED BY FOOTPADS MONDAY

F. A. Hooper, a lawyer living at 779 *Piedmont avenue, was held up and rob*bed of his gold watch and $3 in money by two footpads as he was returning home on Eighth street at midnight on Monday.

Mr. Hooper reported to the police that just as he reached the shade of a big tree between Piedmont avenue and Juniper street, within almost a block of his home, he was confronted by two men. One knocked him down and struck him in the face several times. Then the two rifled his pockets. Money was taken from his purse, and the purse thrown away. He was unable to tell whether the men were negroes or white people.

HOME-COMING DAY OBSERVED AT DECATUR

Exercises Extend Over Entire Day—Parade, Cornerstone Laying, Smoker

All Decatur is in gala attitre Tuesday and DeKalb county citizens are taking a holiday to participate in the exercises marking the city's annual home-coming celebration.

The program of exercises calculated to extend over the entire day was begun at the DeKalb county court house Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, when Dr. A. M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture; Chairman C. M. Candler, of the state railroad commission, and Representative R. F. Smith, of DeKalb county, addressed a large gathering.

The observance of Jefferson Davis' birthday was undertaken in connection with the home-coming exercises and Mr. Candler spoke in eulogy of Mr. Davis. Representative Smith talked on the proposed Fifth District Agricultural school.

City and county officials, members of the Decatur board of trade and numerous Atlantians interested in Decatur affairs took part.

An elaborate ceremony marking the laying of the cornerstone of Decatur's new $25,000 public school building is planned for 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The cornerstone will be placed with Masonic observances presided over by George M. Napier, past grand master of Georgia Masons, and conducted by members of Pythagorus lodge. Addresses will be made by J. Howell Green, John A. Montgomery and Hooper Alexander. A parade in honor of the occasion will form at the court house at 3 o'clock, in which numerous Decatur organiaztions will participate.

The day will be brought to a close with a smoker at the court house at 6:30 o'clock. Wilson's orchestra will furnish the music and addresses will be made by Wilmer L. Moore, C. J. Haden, Walter G. Cooper, Forrest Adair, John A. Montgomery, Alonzo M. Field, R. F. Gilliam and R. W. Parker.

RHEUMATISM COMES FROM CONIDTIONS WHICH CAN BE REMEDIED

But Local Applications on the Skin Cannot Get at the Cause of Your Suffering.

Just a billous attack and a slight deposit of uric acid. Now calomel and similar mercurial purgatives do not dissolve and expel the uric acid sediment that forms from undigested, fermenting foods, and when this poisonous acid is not expelled it accumulates quickly, thickens the blood and settles in joints and muscles. The joints and muscles then become stiff.

An attempt to cure this rheumatism must be directed toward removing uric acid from blood and tissues, breaking up the crystalline urates already formed and preventing new deposits.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is remarkably successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It dissolves uric acid out of the tissues, holds it in solution and expels it in the urine. It thoroughly cleanses the system of fermentation and purifies the blood. It will give prompt relief in all cases of rheumatism resulting from uric acid poisoning.

If you are suffering with rheumatism, try JACOBS' LIVER SALT immediately. It will relieve you more promptly and surely than anything else. Don't take an inferior substitute; some closely imitate the name, but none produces the same result. Insist on the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. 25c. RENEWED BEAR PRESSURE CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 9 to 11 Points Lower Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 3.—Cotton steady at unchanged prices at an advance of 1 point on a continuation of the covering movement which developed yesterday after a connection with better cables than expected. There was a good deal of selling here by wire houses with southern connections, but houses with foreign connections were buyers and the market held steadily during the early trading with prices near crop months about 2 to 3 points net higher.

While foreign houses were buyers of new crop months during the morning, Liverpool was a seller of July and the old crop months, and after opening unchanged to 1 point lower on the new crop months, eased the market to a net loss of 1 to 4 or 5 points. The market was narrow at midday.

The new crop weather report complaining of dry weather in parts of the belt caused a rally of 2 or 3 points from the early decline, but on the late start. The talent knew all this as the facts had been exploited day after day. Then the rains and warmer forecast took the edge off the bullish sentiment. Recently most excellent reports have come in from Texas and Oklahoma particularly and from other sections as well. Under the circumstances, it looks like the talent to the thought and current advices having inspired increased offerings, the government's crop reporting began to count on a bureau figure of between 82 and 83. Consequently, most operators were sharply disappointed when the figures came 79.1.

Dallas wires: 'Texas, Amarillo cloudy, balance clear, hot, no rain.

Oklahoma partly cloudy, few points threatening.

Forecast:

Louisiana—Tonight and Wednesday fair, not much change in temperatures; light, variable winds on the coast.

Arkansas—Unsettled, cooler in north portion; Wednesday generally fair.

Oklahoma and Indian Territory—Tonight and Wednesday generally fair.

Texas—Tonight and Wednesday generally fair; East Texas—Tonight and Wednesday generally fair; light southerly winds on the coast.

Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama—Local showers tonight or Wednesday.

Kansas—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; cooler in southeast portions tonight.

Kentucky—Local thunder showers tonight or Wednesday; slightly cooler.

Tennessee—Local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday.

Mississippi—Local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday.

Florida—Fair except showers in the northeast. Middling, 12½c.

Minneapolis, June 3.—Flour unchanged. Bluestem were principal buyers; Schill, Ralt, Hendz, Bloyd and Pillsbury were leading sellers. Map favorable and crowd inclined to sell. Sentiment bullish.

Map favorable throughout the fall south central states. Part cloudy elsewhere, fine warm weather. General showers reported from Middle Atlantics. No rain elsewhere. Indications are for part cloudy to fair over the central and northeastern states, where it will be cloudy, showery and cooler.

Liverpool cables: Buyers discredited, but may have temporary effect. Market will be lower if no second cotton favorable.

Ring selling led by Bartlett, Flinn, Rothchild, Hentz and Mayer. Pillsbury and Bloyd were also buying July.

11 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: January 11.07; July 11.47; August 11.36; October 11.11.

Government weather reports say: High temperature during middle and latter part of week over interior and southern portions of the country with a serious deficiency in precipitation over large portions of all above mentioned features of weather during the week just ended.

Some scattered buying on weather report, which is construed as unfavorable.

Memphis—Sufficient rain delivered in Liverpool as result of low condition report to cause moderate advance, but as a whole demand there was disappointing and it does not appear that spinners are eager takers. In New York crowd sold after July 1 and closed. Nothing but a decline. Sentiment is bearish, government is not accredited with weather favorably for a big making steady advancement.—Miller & Cotter.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow Jones summary: Standard Oil company, of Kentucky, declared initial dividend of $5 per share. Some easing in prospects for friendly settlement of Balkan allies quarrel is improving. Bankers and lawyers confer today on Frisco receivership, and indications believe that the government will accept secretary Bryan's peace treaty. Twelve industrial rails declined 1.36. Seven active rails declined 1.86.

The liquidation on yesterday will probably continue as there is little in the situation to produce any sustained advance while Europe is unsatisfactorily inclined and the crop situation until sentiment changes do not look for more than temporary rallies on shore covering.—Fetter.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Chicago Inter Ocean says: The bulls in wheat said that unless the weather map today showed heavier and more general rains than were reported yesterday higher prices the last of the month they admit that they are not getting much help from the crop reports public to bull the market. Most of the local traders were out of their wheat last night and a fair share of interest created. To have the smallest visible supply of corn for June 1 in over thirty-four years with the crop the largest on record, is the most surprising feature of the corn trade. The bulls argue that it will be nearly impossible for those who the bears said it cut little figure as they believe that there are larger reserves back in the country.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say:

Wheat—May shows generally clear in northwest; some rain in Nebraska and showers in Iowa. In Missouri situation rather general but chiefly of a showery character. Local sentiment has become extremely bearish again and may force prices lower, but we do not advise to follow the decline.

Corn—Weather conditions over the belt perfect. Speculative holders seem firm in their views and we do not apparently see little selling pressure. At the same time past, offerings continue to be absorbed by commission houses with local professionals the best sellers. We look for a steady market.

Provisions—The undertone to the market is one of strength.

Winnipeg wires: Conditions in general in the northwest favorable for the growing crop. Becoming general that moisture is needed over the southern part of the northwest, which should come very soon. The next ten days will tell the week or ten days has been cool, turning rather severe locally, with frost. Rain would precipitation has been of the showery character.

Local sentiment continues very bearish. Local traders inclined to favor short side.

Inclined to favor eastern demand for corn.

Grain belt forecast:

Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota fair and warmer. Monday and Tuesday and Nebraska, cloudy, probably cooler.

Salina, Kas., wires: Weather changing: end of drouth. Indicated Salina county good for quarter section of wheat. Will be good for about it fifteen. Plant shows less suffering to north and west. Condition very fair.

Mutchinson, Kan.: Think wheat which could have made twenty-five bushels per acre, will still make fifteen bushels. Rain would help.

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says:

The government upstanded them all. Prior to the promulgation of the condition report, where the bulls were all set for a knocking with a stick, they refused $2, rows traders generally, but in a short time sold numerous leading cotton and asked their friends to do likewise. The government figure, 79.1, indicating the condition of the crop on May 25, spread momentary consternation among shorts, and thereafter most traders attended strictly to business. The figure, which, in the main related to the covering up of outstanding interest, upset the government's ides of the condition of the crop ten days ago it certainly does not take any standard with the talent's ideo today. On May 25, a lengthy period of dry weather had not fully come to an end. Many sections were suffering from lack of moisture, a condition of the necessity for repeated replantings, and the crop was generally behind the date a late start. The talent knew all this as the facts had been exploited day after day. Then the rains and warmer forecast took the edge off the bullish sentiment. Recently most excellent reports have come in from Texas and Oklahoma particularly and from other sections as well. Under the circumstances, it looks like the talent to the thought and current advices having inspired increased offerings, the government's crop reporting began to count on a bureau figure of between 82 and 83. Consequently, most operators were sharply disappointed when the figures came 79.1.

Dallas wires: 'Texas, Amarillo cloudy, balance clear, hot, no rain.

Oklahoma partly cloudy, few points threatening.

Forecast:

Louisiana—Tonight and Wednesday fair, not much change in temperatures; light, variable winds on the coast.

Arkansas—Unsettled, cooler in north portion; Wednesday generally fair.

Oklahoma and Indian Territory—Tonight and Wednesday generally fair.

Texas—Tonight and Wednesday generally fair; East Texas—Tonight and Wednesday generally fair; light southerly winds on the coast.

Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama—Local showers tonight or Wednesday.

Kansas—Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; cooler in southeast portions tonight.

Kentucky—Local thunder showers tonight or Wednesday; slightly cooler.

Tennessee—Local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday.

Mississippi—Local thunderstorms tonight or Wednesday.

Florida—Fair except showers in the northeast. Middling, 12½c.

Minneapolis, June 3.—Flour unchanged. Bluestem were principal buyers; Schill, Ralt, Hendz, Bloyd and Pillsbury were leading sellers. Map favorable and crowd inclined to sell. Sentiment bullish.

Map favorable throughout the fall south central states. Part cloudy elsewhere, fine warm weather. General showers reported from Middle Atlantics. No rain elsewhere. Indications are for part cloudy to fair over the central and northeastern states, where it will be cloudy, showery and cooler.

Liverpool cables: Buyers discredited, but may have temporary effect. Market will be lower if no second cotton favorable.

Ring selling led by Bartlett, Flinn, Rothchild, Hentz and Mayer. Pillsbury and Bloyd were also buying July.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, June 3.—While Liverpool was better than due our market due not follow as such. Bearish sentiment prevailed. Private cables low report issued by the government yesterday. Crop experts operated generally believed that there has been an improvement since the report was made up and that private reports indicate.

There has been some trade buying and scattered short covying, which is the support of the market. Trade inclined to be bearish on any large lines, and in the absence of outside business the market continues very narrow. Unless favorable reports come there is a decided change in conditions.—Anderson.

THE WEATHER.

Forecast till 7 p. m. Wednesday.

Atlanta and vicinity: Thundershowers tonight and Wednesday.

Georgia and Alabama: Local thunderstorms tonight and Wednesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Local showers in the eastern portion of the cotton belt during the past 24 hours, with the heaviest rainfall reported in Georgia, Alabama. Showers occurred along the south Atlantic coast, in the upper Mississippi valley and a few local on the Rocky Mountain slope. In fact, the heaviest rainfall was confined to the eastern portion in many portions of the country than for several months. Showers also fell over most of the Plateau region.

Warm weather continues to prevail in the south and in the central Mississippi valley, the highest temperature reaching 90 degrees as far north as Chicago. In the northwest the cool weather under the influence of a moderate area high pressure prevailed from the Dakotas. The current temperature was below 50 degrees in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Conditions continue somewhat favorable for local thunderstorms.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Section Director.

WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The greatest excess in mean temperature was over northwestern Texas. The mean temperature ranged from 96 to 98 degrees over the eastern, from 92 to 96 over the central and from 88 to 92 over the western portion of the cotton growing states. The lowest mean temperature, 68 degrees, occurred in northern Idaho, and the highest, 92, at Del Rio, Tex. Precipitation occurred generally in the eastern and north central portions of the cotton region, but the amounts were generally light, except over more than an inch occurred in parts of North Carolina, extreme eastern Tennessee and the northern portion of Mississippi. Elsewhere over nthe cotton growing states there was no rain except that a few light scattered showers occurred over the northwestern portion of Texas and in Oklahoma. The rainfall was in amount 2 inches, occurred at Wilmington, N. C. Mean temperatures were from one to 2 degrees above normal, except from one degree above or slightly below over northern Mississippi and south central and northwestern Texas, where there was a deficiency of 3 degrees over the west coast of Texas.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET IRREGULAR AT THE CLOSE

Canadian Pacific, Beet Sugar and Union Pacific Up—Copper and Smelters Off

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 3.—Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, the most conspicuous features of day's decline, showed a tendency to recover at the opening, the Canadian Pacific moved up 2% and Union Pacific nearly a point. The balance of the general was irregular with a preponderance of small declines. Steel fell a point.

Prices of the more important stocks took a definite turn upwards after the early selling had been completed, although there was some continuation of yesterday's liquidation of low priced shares. Later the active list reacted, when closing became weak.

After yesterday's severe slump the market presented a most cheerful front today.

London bought intensively of Canadian Pacific and took some Union Pacific. Teh action of the London people encouraged the room traders that the urgent liquidation under which prices have been selling had ended.

Canadian Pacific sold nearly 5 points above yesterday's lowest. The rally in the other standard stocks did not average more than a point.

Bonds easy.

The general market showed less resistance to the buying movement. Improvement is believed that more stocks were ruling at about the lowest point. Canadian Pacific's 2% @ 110¾ created an unfavorable impression and encouraged short selling at other points.

Failure of the bull leaders to rally or resist the intermittent pressure of the bear faction caused considerable liquidation which in considerable portion of the list went down to yesterday's low figures or below. An added factor in the bear attack was the government's weekly weather report pointing out the danger to crops in the central parts of the belt in certain sections. New York Stg 4½s again fell below par.

Closed weak.

FINANCIAL BUREAU ON STOCKS.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Financial bureau says: Pessimism in London. Dealers and brokers' securities corporation says interest on its loans will be paid promptly on October 1. Information channels continue to reflect a pessimistic outlook for prices. The prospect for the Balkan peace conference in the London Foreign office is considered diminished by the government's attitude. Bulgaria's reply is considered a suggester and b the additional litigation in Montenegro and Austria.

We would buy conservatively on reactions.

LONDON STOCKS.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 3.—Another weakness developed in practically all sections of the stock market during the week under renewed local and provincial liquidation, which was due largely to banks curtailing credit. Steadier rates appeared on the close, however, and checked the downward movement. Closed steadier and well above the low.

American securities opened easy and moved irregularly during the forenoon and afternoon. After noon the list rallied well on continental and local buy ingurchases and Wall street buying. Closed steady.

News of Women and Society

Evening Bridge to Miss Ripley

Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Brittain will entertain at bridge Friday evening at their home on East North avenue in compliment to Miss Louise Ripley and Mr. Dan McIntyre, whose marriage will take place during June.

The guests will include the wedding party and a few other friends.

To Miss Francis

Mrs. T. H. French will entertain at an informal bridge party Friday morning at her home on Juniper street in compliment to Miss Martha Francis, a bride-elect.

To Miss Yauch

Miss Helen Yauch, of New York, is being pleasantly entertained during her visit to Mrs. Beaumont Davison at her home in Druid Hills.

Mrs. Martin Dunbar will entertain at a bridge party Wednesday afternoon at the East Lake Country club.

Mrs. W. I. Maddox will be hostess at luncheon Saturday at her home on Howard street, and Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Paxon will entertain at dinner at the Piedmont club.

Mrs. Lyle's Guests

The luncheon at which Mrs. Dan Lyle will be hostess Thursday at her home in College Park will be a lovely compliment to Miss Martha Francis, a bride-elect.

Mrs. Lyle's guests will include Miss Martha Francis, Miss Passie May Ottley, Miss Lillian Logan, Miss Anne Lyle, Mrs. William Schroder, Mrs. Charles Shelton, Jr., and Mrs. Bertram Norris.

To Miss Bryson

Miss Adgate Ellis entertained six girls informally at the Piedmont club this afternoon in honor of Miss Edith Bryson, of Savannah, who is the guest of Miss Eula Jackson.

This evening Miss Bryson and Miss Jackson will be entertained at the Players club play, which will be the theatrical event o fthe evening, and will be charming figures at the supper which will follow the play at the Piedmont club.

Miss Winship's Bridge Party

Miss Emily Winship was hostess at an informal bridge party Tuesday afternoon at her home on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Elizabeth Boyd, who is the guest of Miss Carolyn King.

Auction bridge was played and there was a pretty souvenir for top score at each table.

The card tables were placed in the sun parlor which was cool and inviting with its many handsome palms and growing plants. Miss Winship wore a lovely gown of pale blue embroidered crepe draped over silk of a deeper hue.

Invited to meet Miss Boyd were Miss Carolyn King, Miss Sarah Rawson, Miss Rosalie Hutcheson, Miss Annie Lee McKenzie, Miss Emma Kate Amorous, Miss Alice May Freeman, Miss Nancy Prince, Miss Laura Ansley, Miss Marjorie Brown and Mrs. Charles Sheldon, Jr.

To Miss Ripley

Mrs. T. S. Wilkins entertained at a bridge luncheon this morning at her home on West Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Louise Ripley, whose marriage to Mr. Dan McIntyre will be an event of interest during June.

The house was decorated for the occasion with pink and white sweet peas, a large silver basket filled with thick clusters of the blossoms attracting special attention.

All the details of the luncheon were in pink and white, the ices being heart-shaped and the cakes also.

Mrs. T. F. Ripley assisted in entertaining.

The guest of honor received a dainty piece of hand-embroidered lingerie, and the other prizes were silk stockings.

The guests included Miss Ripley, Miss Laura Ansley, Miss Clifford West, Miss Ruth Wing, Miss Tommie Perdue, Miss Marian Perdue, Miss Laura Ripley, Miss Rina White, Miss Julia McIntyre, Miss Janie Cooper, Miss Cena Whitehead, Miss Frances Ansley, Miss Nannie Belle Ripley, Miss Katharine Ripley, Miss Martha Lawshe, Miss Bertie Daniels, Miss Jane Stanfield, Mrs. William Candler, Mrs. Karl Brittain, Mrs. Homer McAfee, Mrs. Frank Winecoff.

Miss Ottley's Luncheon

Miss Passie May Ottley's luncheon in compliment to Miss Martha Francis and to Miss Elizabeth Boyd, of Nashville, the guest of Miss Carolyn King, was a beautiful event of Monday.

The table was set on the veranda, which was most attractive with its cool screening of vines and prettily placed porch plants.

The details of the luncheon were in yellow, and a suggestion of June gardens was given by the dainty panels of flowers which formed the place cards.

The party included Miss Francis, Miss Boyd, Miss King, Miss Annie Lee McKenzie, Miss Jennie D. Harris, Miss Caroline Muse, Miss Frances Connally, Miss Marjorie Brown, Miss Hildreth Smith, Miss Emily Winship, Miss Laura Ansley.

Evening Party

Miss Ella Quinlan entertained at a delightful buffet supper Saturday night at her home in Evelyn Park in honor of Miss Adabelle Quinlan and Miss Ruby Simmons, graduates of the G. H. S.

After supper the evening was spent in dancing and bridge.

Those present were Miss Ella Quinlan, Miss Adabelle Quinlan, Miss Ruby Simmons, Miss Jimmie Roberts, Mr. A. D. Adams, Mr. S. L. Abbott, Mr. O. P. Adams, J. E. Morris and Mr. L. W. Quinlan.

Mrs. Kilpatrick Entertains

Mrs. W. W. Kilpatrick entertained in honor of Miss Roberts, of Valdosta, the guest of Miss Flora Lavarre and her own guest, Miss Marie Vinson, of Savannah.

The game of 42 was played on the verandas. The guests of honor were presented crepe collars, the prize also being a hand embroidered collar, won by Miss Minnie Stockton.

Those present were Miss Purser, Miss Moselle Gunn, Miss Minnie Stockton, Miss Ruth Belk, Miss Flora Crane, Miss Annie Ray, Miss Myrtle Roberts, Miss Marie Vinson, Mrs. John Keeton.

LOVELY VISITOR AT OAK RIDGE

—Photograph by Lenney.

MISS EDITH BRYSON, OF SAVANNAH.

Miss Bryson has been the lovely guest of Miss Eula Jackson at Oak Ridge since their return last week from New York, where both young women have been studying at the Castle. Miss Bryson will leave Wednesday for her home, to the regret of the friends and admirers she has won during her short visit.

WEDDINGS

Whiteside-Lawrence

Miss Ruth Whiteside, formerly of Atlanta, was married to Mr. Chester Lawrence, of Chicago, at high noon, May 31, at the home of her father in Alpha, Tenn. They will make their home in Chicago.

Kendrick-Houser

Mr. E. L. Kendrick announces the marriage of his daughter, Mary Frances, to Mr. Arthur Gray Houser, of Macon, Ga., on June 1.

Owing to the recent bereavement in the bride's family the marriage was very quiet, taking place at the parsonage of the Immaculate Conception church, Rev. R. H. Kennedy officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Houser left imediately for Macon, where they will be at home at the Hotel Dempsey.

Finlayson-Dowling

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Finlayson and Mr. James Dowling, of Live Oak, Fla., took place on the 1st at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. Finlayson, of Quitman, Rev. L. W. Colson officiating. The event came as a complete surprise to the many friends of the couple.

After a wedding tour east, Mr. and Mrs. Dowling will be at home in Live Oak.

St. Mary's Guild Festival

An ice cream festival will be given by the St. Mary's guild of St. Philips cathedral on the lawn of Dr. G. H. Noble, 980 Peachtree street, Friday, June 6, from 4 until 9 o'clock.

HARRISON-RAOUL WEDDING A BEAUTIFUL EVENT

The marriage of Miss Courtenay Harrison and Mr. Loring Raoul was an event which interested a wide circle of friends throughout the state, taking place Monday afternoon at Fernbank, the country home of the bride's parents, Colonel and Mrs. Z. D. Harrison.

The only attendants were Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, Miss Eleanore Raoul and Mr. Norman Raoul. Rev. Hendree Harrison, the bride's brother, was the officiating minister, and the service was witnessed by only the members of the family and relatives.

The service took place on the terrace, a sky above canopied with the great branches of the surrounding trees harmonizing with the palms which contrasted with the gray stone walls of the house.

Dorothy Perkins roses added their glow of color and above the wide doorway an arch of the same flowering vine added to the picture.

The bridal party descended the broad stairway which was screened with bamboo and passed through the reception hall, fragrant with pink roses and tall stands filled with white and pink hollyhocks.

Miss Raoul and Miss Harrison wore beautiful gowns of lavender chiffon and carried bouquets of bridesmaid roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Harrison's gown was mist gray crepe de chine and Mrs. William Green Raoul, the groom's mother, was a gown of black chiffon.

Receiving with Mrs. Harrison were her daughters, Mrs. Michael Hoke, Miss Emily Harrison and Miss Fanneal Harrison.

A buffet supper followed the ceremony, the guests being served on the long porches and in the rooms which were decorated with a wealth of sweet peas, roses, palms and quantities of ferns which gave the lovely home its appropriate name.

Mr. and Mrs. Raoul left for a stay of several weeks in the Carolina mountains, after which they will return to Smyrna where they will be at home at Cherokee Farm.

Matinee Tea

Mrs. T. E Weatherholt entertained at a box party at the Forsyth Tuesday afternoon, and after the matinee the guests had tea at the Georgian Terrace.

In the party were Miss Dove Marchman, Miss Carolyn Marchman, of Barnesville; Mrs. H. L. Flynt and Mrs. Weatherholt.

If You Rightly Appreciate Good Health

You can not place too high a value upon comfort. And no one can fail to appreciate the relationship of summer home furnishings to comfort.

The difference betwen those who live through the summer and those who laugh through it is more often a matter of forethought than of mere opportunity.

Cool Willow Grass Rugs Contribute to Summer Comfort

Each year people appreciate more and more the importance of changing their floor coverings. Cool, fresh Summer Rugs are a delight to the eye, and they double the life of winter coverings. Choice will not be better this season than right now.

Artistic, Sanitary, Economical, Popular Floor Coverings

Willow Grass Rugs are soft and pliable—they can be used the year 'round for every room in the house, but for the summer they are a decidedly practical and desirable floor covering for cottages and porches.

They are real works of art, and carry beauty and attractivenes to any home.

They wear like iron—and ought to, for they are made of genuine grass—a nature product, transported and utilized to adorn the home.

WHAT ANNE RITTENHOUSE SAYS

WHEN Paris first introduced the Russian blouse made of lace to wear over satin skirts, it was taken up with a good deal of enthusiasm. The French wore it to the races in May and the Americans have got hold of it as an adjunct to an afternoon gown of figured crepe or voile.

It is not as striking, possibly, with the figured skirt as with the plain one of dark satin, to which it is such a strong contrast; despite all fluctuations of fashion the French dearly love black and white and the elegant women of that country cling to it no matter what the popular colors may be. They care little whether the dressmakers are advocating it as a leading combination, or whether they insist that it has given way to vivid tones in many mixtures.

None of these verdicts matters much to the really well dressed French woman, after all, for she rarely follows the designs made for the American buyers or for the French actresses. She has more individuality than the exclusively dressed woman of any other country, but as she is rarely seen outside of her own circle the public has no chance to imitate her style or copy her clothes.

It is probable that the general public would not care to do either, because she dresses in the quietest manner, owing her distinction to cut, line, drapery and a subdued combination of colors. It is she who always wears black and white at some time of the year and it is only natural that fashion should come her way once in a while. All of which has really little to do with the lace coat.

Short Coats of Lace

THE lace tunic was only one of many forms of short coats, which pervaded the fashions of the season. They were made in all the different styles that govern jackets of silk and brocade and satin. It was not possible to persuade women to give up the short separate garment as soon as they became fully used to it, and it was quite natural that they should turn to materials even thinner than satin.

The first one of these thin coats was of embroidered net and it led the way for shadow and mailne lace as well as some of the heavier weaves like fillet and Arabian and Bohemian.

The Russian blouse was the first kind of garment suggested for this lace and slim women adopted it with a gathered peplum and a long waist line, which was hidden by a deep girdle of brilliantly colored satin; often this satin had two ends, one of which fell to the knees, was deeply fringed, and embroidered in bead or wool crewel.

The fanciful variety gave way to simpler garments of plain shadow lace, which had long sleeves, high collar, fastened down the side from shoulder to hem with small buttons. The belt was a simple affair of plain black satin ribbon, not folded or crushed, but passed around the waist in a way that defined it and did not conceal it. Its ends were run through a mother of pearl buckle. The skirt worn with this was a draped one of black satin without any kind of trimming.

Those who did not care for the straight Russian blouse found they could adapt the idea in many attractive ways. For instance, lace was admirable when made after the model of that little round sacque coat which Callot invented in the winter and which gave to its wearer a quaint mid-Victorian air that made a fantastic contrast to the bizarre Oriental atmosphere of the hour.

Such coats were not lined if one wished them for ornament, and they have a very thin messaline lining if one wishes them to give slight protection. Many of them are part of the costume and are not supposed to serve any other purpose.

Lace Coats for Daily Use.

AS soon as the Russian blouses of thin lace became fashionable it was only natural that women who wanted a novelty for every day use should see if it was not possible to use a rather coarse lace over a skirt of eponge or thin crepe. The result is far from bad.

The lace coat is thin and yet it allows one to wear a fine muslin blouse with a separate skirt if both are white. It also redeems many one-piece frocks that looked as though they could not be worn again because the bodices were not quite up to the mark.

It is evidently to be a lace summer if one is to judge by the amount of coats, hats, parasols and one-piece frocks for afternoon and evening that women are wearing. The fashion of using a thin all-over lace for an entirely simple one-piece gown has returned to favor after a decade or more of oblivion.

Lace scarfs and shawls are used at the back of tea gowns and ball gowns when there is no lace as trimming. The shawls are brought straight across the shoulders, fastened just above each arm and then allowed to fall free as far as its length allows.

SCENES FROM PLAYERS' CLUB COMEDY

While the title of the performance which the Atlanta Players' club will present Tuesday night at the Grand sound a bit like one of Gil Chesterton's philosophical essays, as a matter of fact it is nothing less than the breeziest of breezy comedies.

There is plenty of philosophy in "The Importance of Being Earnest" all right, but it is a wholesome every-day sort of philosophy and does not depend on epigrams and Chestertonian theories for its effectiveness.

Earnest, it seems, is the name of a man and not a virtue. A wealthy young English bachelor pretends that his "prodigal brother," a myth, is named Earnest and lives in London. He goes to London and plays the part of Earnest himself. A beautiful young English girl is attracted by the sibilant syllables of the bachelor's nom de plume; and they fall in love, and are married.

Marsh Adair plays the role of Earnest and Miss Hildreth Burton Smith that of the Honorable Gwendolyn Fairfax, the young lary who "falls for" the bachelor. Another love affair runs through the story—that of Algernon Moncrief, a blase young Englishman whose part is taken very aptly by Lamar Hill, and Cecily Cardew, the sweet little country maiden, played by Mrs. William Owens.

The comedy part is found in the character of the Rev. Canon Chasuble, D.D., an English clergyman whose heart is more subject to Cupid's arrows than his cloth warrants. This role is filled ably by Hamilton Douglas, Jr. Mrs. John Marshall Slaton makes a charming Lady Bracknell, Gwendolyn's austere and dignified mother, and Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott does some wonderful character acting in the part of Miss Prism. The roles of the two men-servants are filled by R. Frank Taylor and Tom Donaldson.

The play is said to be the most entertaining that Oscar Wilde ever wrote. It is replete with sparkling speeches and witty dialogue, and has a moral woven into it that one can see if he wants to and ignore if he should please so to do.

It is a certainty that Atlanta's society will turn out in full force to witness the club's annual production. It is reported that nearly every seat in the house is sold already, and the boxes were taken long ago. When the curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock the audience will be the most brilliant gathered in a local playhouse since grand opera week.

Several of the boxes will be occupied by officers of the Players' club, and in compliment to the members of the club most of the audience will wear evening dress.

Following the performance the members of the cast and numbers of others will have supper at the Piedmont Driving club.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

There was the strange pond in the Green Forest and there was the dam of logs and sticks and mud which had made the strange pond, but look as they would, Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter and Jerry Muskrat and Grandfather Frog and Spotty the Turtle could see nothing of the one who had built the dam. It was very queer. The more they thought about it the queerer it seemed. They looked this way and they looked that way.

"There is one thing very sure and that is that whoever built this dam had no thought for those who live in the Laughing Brook and the Smiling Pool," said Grandfather Frog. "They are selfish, just plain every day selfish, that's what they are! Now the Laughing Brook cannot laugh and the Smiling Pool cannot smile while this dam stops the water from running, and so——" Grandfather Frog stopped and looked around at his four friends.

"And so what?" cried Billy Mink, impatiently.

"And so we must spoil this dam. We must take a place for the water to run through," said Grandfather Frog gravely.

"Of course. That's the very thing!" cried Little Joe Otter and Billy Mink and Jerry Muskrat and Spotty the Turtle. Then Little Joe Otter looked at Billy Mink, and Billy Mink looked at Jerry Muskrat, and Jerry Muskrat looked at Spotty the Turtle, and after that they all looked very hard at Grandfather Frog, and all together they asked: "How are we going to do it?"

Grandfather Frog scratched his head thoughtfully and looked a long time at the dam of logs and sticks and mud. Then his big mouth widened in a big smile. "Why, that is very simple," said he. "Jerry Muskrat will make a big hole through the dam near the bottom because he knows how, and the rest of us will keep watch to see that no harm comes near."

"The very thing!" cried Little Joe Otter and Billy Mink, and Spotty the Turtle, but Jerry Muskrat thought it wasn't fair. You see it gave him all of the real work to do. However, Jerry though of his dear Smiling Pool and how terrible it would be if it should smile no more, and so he set to work without another word. Now Jerry Muskrat is a great worker, and he had made many long tunnels into the bank around the Smiling Pool, so he had no doubt but that he could soon make a hole through this dam. But almost right away he found trouble. Yes, sir, Jerry had hardly begun before he found real trouble. You see that dam was made mostly of sticks instead of mud, and so instead of digging his way in as he would have done into the bank of the Smiling Pool he had to stop every few minutes to gnaw off sticks that were in the way.

It was hard work, the hardest kind of work. But Jerry Muskrat is the kind that the harder the work to be done the more determined he is to do it. And so while Grandfather Frog sat on one of the dam and pretended to keep watch, but really took a nap in the warm sunshine, and while Spotty the Turtle sat on the other end of the dam doing the same thing, and while Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter swam around in the strange pond and enjoyed themselves, Jerry Muskrat worked and worked and worked. And just as jolly, round, red Mr. Sun started down behind the Purple Hills Jerry broke through into the strange pond and the water began to run in the Laughing Brook once more.

GLASSES?

Naturally, glasses do not interest you a particle until you begin to have some trouble with your eyes. Then you look around for a first-class Optician. Never having thought of the matter before, of course you don't know where to go. Then you ask your friends—a friend's advice is always good. For our mutual interest and as an indication of the public's confidence in our splendid optical service we submit to you an extract from a letter written to us by your former beloved townsman and associate, the Hon. John Temple Graves, which says: "The Eyes of the public are safe in your hands." Wouldn't you come pretty nearly banking on a recommendation like that? We are thoroughly appreciative of the public's confidence in us and when you need glasses we shall make every effort to serve you in the best possible manner.

NEARLY DEAD MOTHER SAVES

Timely Advice of Mother Relieves Terrible Suffering and Possibly Prevents an Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—In the following advices from this place, Mrs. Laura Bratcher says: "I was not able to do anything for nearly six months, and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use, for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good, but I used eleven bottles, and was then able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health.

I will always praise Cardui for what it has done for me."

Remember that Cardui is a mild, safe remedy, composed of valuable medicinal ingredients, which help to build up vitality, tone up the nerves, and strengthen the entire womanly constitution.

In the past half century Cardui has relieved more than a million women. Why shouldn't it do the same for you? Try it. It may be just what you need.

Marriage of Miss Gladys Kirk and Mr. Bethune Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Manning Kirk announce the marriage of their daughter, Gladys, to Mr. George Royal Bethune, at their home, 348 North Jackson street, Atlanta, on Monday, June 2.

After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bethune will be at home at 421 Second avenue, Rome, Ga.

Fewell-Taylor

A lovely event of Monday evening was the wedding of Miss Olivia Fewell and Mr. Jere Hampton Taylor. The ceremony took place at the Inman Park Presbyterian church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Feathery masses of palms and ferns made a verdant background for many golden centered daisies which were used in large masses everywhere.

The pretty green and white of the decorations made a charming setting for the bridal party. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. B. H. Austin, and little Jonella Taylor and Lucile Fewell were her flower girls.

Fifteen young girls who acted as ribbon bearers made an attractive group. They were Miss Olivia Fewell, Miss Rosebud Bailey, Miss Martha Roper, Misses Annie, Kate and Julia Adams, Miss Cora Telnde Pratt, Miss Lorraine Fales, Miss Mary Cloud, Miss Frances Buchanan, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Frances Dudley, Miss Adelaide Clayton, Miss Muriel Perkins, Miss Dorothy Holditch, Miss Mildred Dobbs, and the ushers were Mr. Charles Stokes and Mr. Eugene Brooks.

Mr. Robert Taylor was best man, and Miss Lina Andrews played the wedding music.

The bride wore a becoming traveling costume of French blue, her hat of varying shades of blue completing the pretty effect.

She passed down the aisle between two ribbons of tulle garlanded with smilax, the delicate streamers being held by the ribbon bearers, all of whom wore dainty lingerie gowns. The little flower girls were dressed in lace frocks and carried baskets of sweet peas, and Mrs. Austin, the matron of honor, wore a handsome lingerie gown.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor went to the Florida coast for their wedding trip. On their return they will be at home at 330 Euclid avenue.

The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Judge J. W. Fewell, of Mississippi, one of the able advocates of that state.

Twenty-Nine Days In Stockade Now Instead of Thirty

Recorder Broyles has put one over on Mayor Woodward.

He has gone the mayor one better in their pardon controversy and at the same time he has spoiled a familiar terminology that has resounded for many years from wall to wall in the court room.

No longer will the old slogan "Thirty days!" be typical of the recorder's court. It is "Twenty-nine days!" now and it will probably be "$49.99!" fine instead of "$50.75!" as in the days of yore.

It all began several weeks ago when the recorder criticized the mayor for pardoning cases without any recommendation from the court. The mayor went right ahead, though, and pardoned whenever he saw fit.

The law says that the mayor can pardon a case where the sentence is thirty days or more or the fine $50 or more, without recommendation from the recorder. . . .hen it is less than this the mayor cannot act without recommendation from the recorder.

So it was, that when the case of T. R. Persons, of 58 Hayden street, charged with selling whisky illegally, came up in court Monday afternoon, the recorder gave him twenty-nine days in the stockade instead of thirty. Persons was bound over also on a state bond of $200.

Smith Claims Monday Game; Play Tuesday

Crackers Went to Vol Park on Monday and Had Joe Dunn Award the Game to Crackers–Sure to Be Contested

The Atlanta and Nashville clubs are again in a row, this time over the date for playing the third game of the present series. First it was a battle over the services of Harry Welchonce and the Crackers won out. Now it is over the date for playing a ball game and again the Atlanta bunch seems to have the edge.

When the schedule was originally made the present series called for games Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, but when it was found that Sunday ball would be allowed in Nashville the Nashville and Atlanta managers agreed to move up one of the games to Sunday and to play the others on Monday and Tuesday. To this both managers agreed and now the Vol leader is endeavoring to back out of his agreement.

Just to make matters worse Manager Smith took his club to the Vol field on Monday and after having Price toss over three balls he entered claim for the game. No Vol club showed up. In the absence of a regular league umpire Joe Dunn acted in this capacity and gave the Crackers the game.

The game Tuesday is sure to be played, there being no doubt as to the two managers having agreed to play on this date. On Wednesday Manager Smith states that he will be back at Ponce de Leon, while Manager Schwartz says he will go to the ball yard and claim the game.

President Kavanaugh has ruled that he will uphold the original agreement between the two managers and as Schwartz undeniably agreed to play the games Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, it begins to look as if the contested game of Monday will go to Atlanta.

It was the intention of the Cracker mogul to play the Vol games on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, so the club could try and arrange a game here on Wednesday, which is an off day, with the Montgomery club. The grocers have a half holiday on this date, and wanted a ball game. It is likely that it will be staged, but if not Manager Smith states he will return to Poncy and take a rest on Wednesday and be ready to open with the Lookouts on Thursday.

CHATTANOOGA LANDS KROH

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 3.—Manager Elberfeld announced last night that he had purchased Kroh from the Memphis club. The Kid had been drafting for the Turtles' star left-hander for some time. Hunt, recently secured from Victoria in the Northwestern league, upon the recommendation of Herre Meek, was returned to make room for the newcomer.

This gives Elberfeld three southpaws —Covaleskie, Sommers and Kroh. The Kid has always insisted that the Southern this year is a southpaw league.

New Bantam Champ

LONDON, June 3.—Ball Beynon tonight won the English bantam championship from "Digger" Stanley, holder of the title. The fight, which was before the National Sporting club, went 20 rounds, Beynon getting the decision.

Eddy Morgan, champion of Wales, was scheduled to fight Stanley, but illness prevented him from appearing, and Baynon took his place.

The contest was for a purse of $2,500 and the Lord Lonsdale belt.

ERRORS AND HITS THAT WON GAMES

Two free passes, a single, a triple and a home run gave Philadelphia a five-run lead in the first inning in Monday's game. The final score was 8 to 2 in favor of Philadelphia. Cravath and Luderus, both of Philadelphia, got three hits out of four times up. Moran got two out of three and Smith got two out of four. The game was good all the way through, despite the bad inning that Brooklyn had in the first.

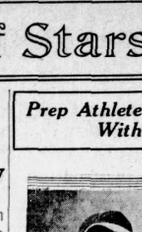
Macon had to sprint to take the Monday game from the Jacksonville boys. The score was 2 to 1 in the ninth, when Macon got together and, with the aid of a single and a home run, they passed the Florida boys by a one-margin victory. It was a pitchers' battle all the way until the seventh, when the Jacksonville man was found.

Hits in the pinches and two badly fielded bunts gave Pittsburgh the big end of the battle with Boston yesterday in the first game of the series. The final score was 7 to 4 in favor of the Wagnerites. Miller and Wilson each got three hits out of four times up, while Honus Wagner took two out of three for his share of the spoils. Boston played good ball, but was just not in the class with the Pennsylvania bunch. They were there all the time, and Wagner was as spry as a recruit.

Again the Highlanders lost, and lost twice this time, to the Boston boys. Manager Frank Chance had the batting arrangement changed, hoping to break the hoodoo in that way, but there was nothing doing, and the New Yorkers went down to defeat in the first game 4 to 3 and in the second by the score of 8 to 5, it seems as if the Chance men are hoodooed. This is the ninth straight defeat that the team has suffered this year and also makes 13 straight defeats on the Polo grounds this season. Something is loose somewhere.

Philadelphia took both games from the Senators yesterday. They went wild and romped over the Washington boys by the score of 9 to 4 in the first game and 4 to 3 in the second. The great and invincible Walter Johnson suffered his second defeat this season when he lost the second game by a small margin. Home-Run Baker opened the second battle with a few fireworks and laid one out to the country far beyond reach for a home run. Strunk got three hits out of four times up, while Oldring got three out of five time sat the bat.

Prep Athlete With Pirates



EVERETT BANKSTON.

A preparatory school ball player to get a chance in the majors is Everett Bankston, the Gordon receiver, who has been signed by Fred Clarke, of the Pittsburg Nationals. He will be given a tryout before being sent to the minors, the Pittsburg scout who saw him work considering him especially likely.

Bankston is one of the few ball players to jump right from a prep school to a major league team. Biz, head! and fast, there is but little doubt that he will soon develop into a star.

Atlanta Stars Stand Chance In Golf Meet

George Adair and W. R. Tichenor Are Local Stars Who Have Best Look-In to Finish in the Running

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3.—Qualifying rounds in the twelfth annual tour of the Southern Golf association began on the links of the Montgomery Country club early this morning under brilliant skies. The first pair left the club house at 6 o'clock sharp, and other p airs, estimated at 100, will go on the course every five minutes during the day.

Nearly 200 visiting golfers from practically every section of the south are in attendance.

Expert golfers representing almost every state in the south, some 178 players being on the links Monday, spent the first day testing out what has proven to the experts the fastest course in the south, and many exceptional scores were turned in, cards of 72, 74 and 70 being numerous. Several of the lesser known players turned in lower scores than Champion J. P. Edington, of Memphis, who was on the links both morning and afternoon, his score being 43 out of 38 in, a total of 82. He began Tuesday morning defending his title against the champions from the other cities.

During Monday a record was established on the links when Barker, a professional of Birmingham, made the first hole in three, the first time such score has ever been made here.

Among the notiicable scores turned in were: M. J. Condon, of Memphis, 37 and 43, total 80; W. Lash Read, local, 79, his third successive day with a score ranging within five; Champion Edington, 82. The players looked upon as strong contenders in the tournament commencing today are, Nelson Whitney, New Orleans; Ellis Knowles, Pensacola; Jacobi and Munger, Dallas; George Adair and Reynolds Tichenor, Atlanta.

Jim Flynn Is Real Hope; Boxers Here Next Month

Experts Sure He Had Better of His Match With Edward Coffey

The bold announcement that Andrew Chairiglione, the noted Italian-American heavyweight, was coming to Atlanta, June 13, for a bout at the Atlanta auditorium-armory with Jim Savage would probably create only a mild flurry in local Queensberry circles.

When it is explained further, however that Andrew Chairiglione is merely the home-and-fireside name of "Fireman Jim" Flynn, the fans begin to prick up their ears and pay attention.

Out of the tangled mess of claims and counterclaims which have come since Jack Johnson and Lute McCarty were summarily eliminated from the boxing game, the allegation of Jim Flynn that he is the best of the bunch sounds decidedly reasonable.

It may be that James is the child of destiny—and the the federal courts, as it were. It may be that he is just lucky. But with the heavyweight situation just as it is there doesn't seem a man anywhere barring possibly Jim Savage, who can give him a real battle.

Flynn has had a picturesque and a unique career. He is one of the few ever knocked out who came back better than ever. The Fireman has been in the the battling game for nearly twelve years. He is thirty-three years old. He has met the cream of the world's middleweight and heavyweight crops—Tommy Burns, Jack (Twin) Sullivan, Jim Barry, Bill Squiers, Jack Johnson, Tony Ross, Al Kauffman, Sam Langford, Billy Papke, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Tony Capelo, Carl Morris and a mess of others. He has tackled everything that has come along, meeting at odd times many men who were stronger and heavier than he. He has had his ups and his downs, but he has never quit, has never boxed anything but a good battle, and winning or losing he has always been a heroic figure in the Queensberry game.

The odd thing about it is that Flynn seems to be getting better in his "old age." His last battle, that with Coffey, the Irish Giant, in New York, was one of the best we ever engaged in. There have been some who were inclined to think it was not a great bout. The evidence against it was furnished vividly by what Bob Edgeen, the famous Queensberry expert of the New York World, had to say on the subject. Here is, in p rt, his story of the great battle:

"That Coffey-Flynn bout was a surprise party. There was more action in one round of it than in a dozen ordinary affairs.

"The announced weights were: Coffey, 193 1-4; Flynn, 191. Chunky little Flynn was about shoulder high beside the youthful Irish Giant. It didn't look as if he'd have much of a chance.

"At the first clang of the bell both stopped smiling. A second later the air was full of resin dust, tufts of hair, shoelaces and fragments. It was like a bomb explosion. The settling dust revealed Flynn, with his head lowered and his bunch of blond hair waving in air like a fighting crest, gloves raised, working steadily in on his stalking foe. Coffey was busy as a striking barber. Slam, bang, slam went both of ...e Irish Giant's hands. Flynn's head was down and he walked in with the blows. But he didn't offe to counter. He just walked in. For a minute Coffey hit as fast as he could move his hands. The end of the flurry showed Coffey a little arm weary and Flynn with a red eye and a few closing right eye.

"Coffey's arms seemed to flag. Instantly Flynn disclosed his plan of battle. As Coffey slowed up the fireman rushed furiously and swung fierce lefts at Coffey's chin. The Irish boy clinched. Flynn crashed in four overhand lefts and a corking wallop with Flynn rushed again and Coffey stopped and stood toe to toe with him. Flynn pushed his face in close and threw his left hand over his shoulders. Coffey started slamming as fast as he could hit. A hard uppercut made Flynn stagger and both his feet were off to form going down. The bell rang and both turned and walked unsteadily to their corners. Flynn was dazed by the pounding he had received. Coffey had nearly fought himself out.

"The second round was as furious as the first. It ended with both weak at the finish. It ended with both weak and the house on its feet roaring applause. From that round on Coffey was the cleverer looking man of the two weather the third. Flynn was going at him in little sharp rushes, swinging overhand lefts and rights that knocked the 'giant' about like a punching bag. At the end of the fourth the Irish boy was nearly helpless on the ropes. Flynn walked with Coffey from one side to the other as Flynn's swings landed.

From that time on it was merely a question whether Coffey could stick out the ten rounds or not. At the half-way mark he began to recover his strength. He sidestepped and kicked away, circling the ring, while Flynn held the center and turned to face him. Now and then Coffey jabbed or used an uppercut, but at Flynn he succeeded in staggering his man. But Flynn was battling like a wildcat, tearing in suddenly and swinging blows that were hard to block or avoid. In the last two rounds Flynn let up and gave a correct imitation of a boxer saving his opponent for another match.

"The fireman showed more real action than has been seen in any ring in New York during the past six months. Coffey made a remarkably good showing, considering the fact that he was a novice pitted against a veteran. Flynn was winner."

ATLANTA PLAYERS CHAMPS IN THREE TENNIS MEETS

Smith, Thornton, Carter, Orr, Ramspeck and Mansfield Hold Honors in Three Tournaments

Tennis is now fast taking a firm hold upon all sections and with the Southern, South Atlantic and Georgia State tournaments close at hand, all the best racquet experts in this section are working overtime to get in trim for the meets. The first to be staged is the Georgia State, which is to be played on the courts of the Piedmont Driving club, with the Southern at New Orleans on June 23 and the South Atlantic at Augusta on June 16.

Atlantians are greatly interested in all these meets, many of the best players from here having announced their intention of being on hand to play for the titles. Atlanta players hold both the single and double honors in all three of the sections and unless something unforseen occurs they will defend.

In the Georgia State Nat Thornton is the champion in singles, while Mansfield and Carter hold the honors in the doubles. All will defend and it is more than likely that they will again be returned winners.

In the Southern meet at New Orleans Carleton Y. Smith and Nat Thornton hold the honors in doubles, with C. Y. Smith holding the cup in singles. This pair of cracks will most likely make the trip to the Louisiana city to defend their titles.

The last meet of the month is the Georgia State tourney at Augusta, which gets away June 30. Nat Thornton holds *the singles honors, with Orr and Rams*peck topping off the double teams. All will play when the first match starts the last of the month.

From the list of entries received for the three tournaments it is evident that some good tennis will be turned loose. The Atlanta players are just as good as any who have to date entered and they stand a very good chance of gain bringing home every honor.

Miss Browne Wins

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Miss Mary Browne, of Los Angeles, Cal., today won the Pennsylvania and eastern states singles lawn tennis championship by defeating Miss Edna Wildey, of Plainfield, N. J., in the final round of the tournament at the Merion Cricket club.

MOTORDROME READY FOR OPENING; RIDERS CLIPPING OFF FAST TIME

Harry Swarz is here shown being started on his giant racer. Harry Glenn is riding the "snatch machine," with "Tex" Richards doing the pushing.

Few Fast Laps Made During the Practice Spins on Monday Afternoon–Arc Lights Have Been Put in Place

A taste of the sort of daredevil riding that may be expected at the Atlanta Motordrome Friday night when the place is formally opened was given yesterday afternoon when the whole bunch went joy-riding.

Harry Swaftz and Wilmer Richards started it. They had been kidding Harry Glenn about riding and finally arranged a freak handicap race. They were to give Glenn half a lap head start and then riding tandem on the same machine they were to overhaul him. Glenn accepted and off Swartz and Richards went like a couple of lunatics. Glenn was on a stock Indian *while Swartz was on another stock In*dian, with "Tex" Richards behind, seated on a luggage carrier, his hands on Swartz's shoulders and his feet dangling off in thin air.

Round and round they went, the tandem pair gradually gaining speed and gradually rising up the steep fifty-eight degree bank. Now to ordinary mortals it seems foolhardy enough for a single rider to ride on that awful bank but to do it with one man perched precariously on a flimsy looking luggage carrier was just a matter of cold-bloodedly flirting with death.

Swartz and Richards, true to their word, overhauled Glenn, passed him with a flourish and slowed down. They did it none too soon, either, for they had acquired a puncture in the rear tire and were down o nthe rim when they finally slowed down at the paddock. Had they continued another lap they would probably have had a fall.

The word that daredevil stuff was going on at the Motordrome flew like wildfire and such crowds jammed the stands as to interfere with the work of the electricians. In consequence Jack Prince ordered the riders off the track and ran the crowd out of the grand stand.

The work of placing the wiring for the track lights was almost completed yesterday and all the fixtures should be in place by tonight. The last of the wire was put in place around the track and the guard wire was also placed.

The seat sale started with a rush yesterday and will undoubtedly continue briskly until the night of the opening performance. Owing to the fact that a big crowd is inevitable, on Friday the ticket window at the Motordrome will be a crowded place, and many will avail themselves of the opportunity of buying their tickets at the uptown office—Shepherd's Sugar Shop, Edgewood and Pryor streets. Tickets will be sold with rain checks so that in case the races are prevented they will be good for admission at later meets.

MANY "COME BACKS"

While Regular Stars Are Going at Rapid Clip, the Come-Backs Are Proving Real Stars

BY JULIAN MURPHEY.

The baseball season for 1913 is apparently a year for the "come backs" to do the starring. This is true with the individuals as well as the clubs.

Of all the "come backs" now in captivity Cy Falkenberg, of Cleveland, is the real guy. This boy, after being shunted around from club to club, league to league, majors to minors has come back so strongly that he is now topping such wizards of the slab as Walter Johnson. Cy has pitched for Cleveland in some big games and has come out of each with flying colors and not through any great luck. He has pitched real baseball.

SCORED TWELVE RUNS.

In the first dozen games this hurler worked for the Naps he gave up just twelve runs. These games were spread out over a period of fifty-nine hits, which is an average of just about six per game. The Clevelands has averaged less than two runs per game and were easy wins. Falkenberg has fanned forty-six batters in the nine games and wakel twenty, cutting loose two wild pitches and hitting two batemen.

The big "come back" stunt in the club line is being performed by the Cleveland Naps and Philadelphia Nationals. These two clubs are playing the best ball in the two leagues and in view of the predicted poor work division teams their work is reparkable. And they are blazing the trail because they are playing real baseball, hard hitting and good pitching being responsible for the high stand they are taking. It is grand "come back" work for Red Doolin and Joe Birmingham.

STARS CONTINUE TO SHINE.

With the great work of the "come backs" the stars of the past few years are not being dimmed in the least. Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson and a few others continue to dish out the class of work expected by their managers and no one is entering any big kicks. Cobb, Jackson and Speaker are certainly showing up the outfielders of all time while Walter Johnson is pitching ball never before dreamed of.

Of course some of the admitted stars have not hit their real stride and cannot be judged at this early time in the season. Hans Wagner, while he is playing great ball, is not at the top of his stride as is the case with Clyde Milan, Eddie Collins and a few others. Collins was going began to slump a bit. This long slump has pulled down his batting and base running average, which will again take a jump as soon as he hits his real stride.

Good pitching and long distance hitting are the two main assets that keep the Phillies right in the thick of the fight. Seaton, Alexander, Rizey and Chalmers are all going like a house afire, really better than they are entitled to, and this coupled with some star clouting by Cravath, Luderus and a few others is keeping the bunch right around the pennant pole.

Milburn Is Better

NEW YORK, June 3.—Devereaux Milburn, back of the American team which is practicing for the defense of the international polo cup, has practically recovered from the injuries sustained Saturday, when he fell from his horse, and will return at once to the game. He shows only a slight scratch over the right eye. The fear that he was hurt internally proved to be unfounded. It is reported in polo circles today that a coterie of London stock exchange members has offered $10,000 against $7,500 on the New York stock exchange, backing their team as favorites in the coming international match. It was said that thus far the English offer has gone begging.

New Flinger For Atlanta; An Ex-Pirate

Conzelman Landed From Fred Clarke–Bisland Touts Him as One of the Coming Youngsters of Game

Pitcher Conzelman has been secured from the Pittsburg Pirates and will join the Atlanta club when Manager Smith and his cohorts get back to Ponce de Leon on Wednesday. It was announced some days ago that President Callaway was endeavoring to close the deal for Conzelman, but it did not go through until Monday evening.

The new pitcher comes most highly recommended by Shortstop Bisland, who was with the Pirate team during the spring training season. The boy is a collegian and is so ambitious that Manager Fred Clarke would not let him go outright, holding strings to him.

Just who will go to make room for Conzelman Manager Smith has not hinted. As the staff is now filled to the brim some one will have to be turned adrift or suspended before Conzelman can be signed.

Atlanta Ready For Big Game

That there will be something doing at Ponce de Leon on the 19th of this month is a fact, and if you don't believe it, stick around and listen to all the noise that is being raised about the matter. Atlanta is going to beat Birmingham for the best crowd at the park on this date. That is, Birmingham is to have a big day on the 9th of this month. They are going to raise the flag that was presented to them last year, and they say that the crowd that will be there will be one of the biggest that has ever attended a ball game in the south.

Dress, mon, fair Barons, and let thy dream be awakened as softly as possible. It takes some people a long time to learn anything, and it is taking the Birmingham fans a long time to realize that the Atlanta public backs baseball to the last ditch. That is to say, on the 19th of this month there will be the largest crowd of the season out to see the team play and incidentally see the club presented with the attendance trophy. This is to be a great day for the team. They are to see in concrete form the flag that Birmingham has won for them. They are to be heralded as the best drawing card in the Southern league. President Kavanaugh will be there with a speech or something equally as good. It will be a great day, and every loyal Atlanta fan must be there and help down the boast of the Birmingham team that there will be more people at the flag raising than there will be at the trophy presentation. We will take a chance.

Play Dobbers On Wednesday

Montgomery and Atlanta will play off a postponed game at Ponce de Leon on Wednesday afternoon. It was at off day for both clubs and the frat was arranged at great cost to the local association in an effort to provide amusement for the grocers, who will celebrate their first midweek half holiday.

The Atlanta club was originally scheduled to play in Nashville on Wednesday, but when the game was moved upto Sunday the open date was left. All along Wednesday has been an off day for the Bellken club and Johnny Dobbs and Company have decided to share in giving the grocers a big day.

To make the fray a big affair Manager Smith will use Pitcher Conzelman, lately secured from the Pittsburg Pirates. This boy first came into prominence as a hurler for the Brown college team. He was considered one of the 'very best in the east and was promptly grabbed by the Pirates. Fred Clarke, the Pirates' manager, considers him so good that he has strings attached.

The landing of the game for Wednesday can be laid entirely to F. E. Kamper, one of the live grocers who is the leader in the mid-week closing scheme. He was especially anxious that the two teams get together and all members of the grocers' association have promised to be on hand and aid in making the game a success.

In appreciation of the interest being shown by the grocers the baseball association has decided to offer $50 in prizes for the best costumed fan at the grocers' barbecue the third Wednesday in this month. It is a case of the grocers getting the ball clubs and the baseball association retaliating.

Miss Hyde Wins Woman Golf Title

GLEN COVE, L. I., June 3.—Cleverly outplaying a field of fifty-seven golfers over a hilly and difficult links of the Nassau County club here yesterday, Miss Lillian B. Hyde, of West Brook, made a new women's record of 82 for the course and wop the medal in the qualifying round of 18 holes for the women's meet opening here on Monday. Three years ago Miss Hyde won the metropolitan at Mont Claire and repeated in 1913 at Scarsdale. Last year she did not compete. Miss Georgianna M. Bishop, of Brooklayn, Conn., twice winner of the title and a former national champion, returned a card of 88. Miss Marian Hollins, of West Brook, runner up last year, played consistently for a 92 and on the third green of the first match play round today she will meet Miss Hyde.

Woodville Wins

WOODVILLE, Ga., June 2.—Fast fielding and daring base running brought victory to Woodville, Union Point being defeated, 3 to 2, on her own grounds. Finch pitched good ball. Durham's two-bagger to deep left was the feature.

Come, gather round me, little ones,
And give 'eed to my song,
I may detain you quite awhile,
Or maybe not so long;
I have no idea just now
What I intend to say,
And yet I feel the time is ripe
To kick in with this hay.

There's no dope left on Walsh or Cobb,
On Matty or McGraw;
The Johnson boost is overplayed
And should be stopped by law;
The Baker punch is ancient stuff,
Like jeering at the Bede,
And panning magnates long ago
Was good for big-type heads.

So, litle ones, you may disperse at once,
I've had my little say;
There may be something new to shoot,
But not by me today;
Tomorrow—well, perhaps, by then,
We'll have a new, fresh crack
Some sprightly dope in which we moan
For Wagner going back.

Colonel McGraw may have figured that he "rather let some other club set the pace." But crowding a pipe dream up the stem of the pipe is often inclined to stop the flow of smoke. Watching the pace-setter from the second division was something else not exactly the same.

After concluding with the Giants, Manager Dooin postponed his pitching announcement for the first world series game still another week. It may be July before we can obtain his choice.

THE WESTERN JAUNT.

Cubs, Pirates, Reds and Cardinals are waiting this invasion from east with considerable interest. The four western clubs are still massaging the rude bumps raised on their systems when they stormed the Atlantic seaboard and it would be no great surprise if the easterners returned in June with a few bumps upon their own bulging system. It's certain enough if there is any lusty kick left among the western teams it will develop after their mauling through the east where every club except the Giants wore a section of their hides off.

Chicago and Pittsburg especially are due a far better showing and there may soon be a revival of that ancient medley, viz.:

"In days of old, when Cubs were bold, and Pirates held their sway."

The Cubs may or may not come through but Pittsburg is likely to be an unkempt spot for every eastern visitor, now that Clarke's club has yielded to a lucid interval at last. Judging from the power he has yielded to a lucid interval at last. Judging from the power he has under command the Pittsburg leader would not upset the dope by picking up twelve of the sixteen battles scheduled—a margain that will push him once more back into the place where his club belongs on natural form. Also on the ball field.

Sir—To settle a bet what is the best ball game that was ever played in the two big leagues—the ball game in which the greatest number of good plays was made? F. D. J.

Reader—the first game of a double-header counts on the regular contest. The second goes as the postponed battle.

Jimmy McAleer doesn't concede the American league pennant to the Athletics. But then Bill Bryan never concedes an election until some two days after the returns were in showing that he had been landslided by some million or more votes.

Not panning the Red Sox, but we have never seen a ball club yet that spot Mack's team ten games and hurled it before the finish. In so far as the sombre dope goes, which isn't always far, it is merely a question in the American league whether Bender or Plank will pitch that final October game.

And if the dope should falter it will be because Cleveland has broken tradition that sooner or later Fate will meet the Naps on the high road and demand its toll.

"What," queries a reader, "is meant by a stymie?" A stymie is two on with Frank Baker up—three on with Johnson pitching—or any ball batted in the general direction of Wagner. But the only perfect, non-begotiable stymie of the pastime is Ty Cobb.

EX-PLAYERS ARE FARCE AS FIRST-CLASS UMPS

Just because a ball player has seen years of active service on the diamond is no indication that he will make a first-class umpire and the earlier this is appreciated, the umpiring will show a big improvement. It may not be that the plan of giving wornout players jobs as umpires is practiced in any real good league save the Southern and a glance at the record of those who have seen service in this Class A circuit will certainly prevent other leagues following the example.

Some ex-ball players naturally make good umpires, but others are ranked in the superlative in the frost league. To get right down to facts, it might be mentioned that these few lines are penned as the result of the decidedly poor work of one Pat Wright, who draws a pension from the coffers of the Southern league at the expense of the fans who have to sit in the stands and see him run a guessing contest.

When Wright first made his appearance in New Orleans he was handed just about the hottest roast ever accorded a handler of the indicator. In fact, the roast was so severe that it was thought a bit prejudiced, but after seeing Wright in action at Ponce de Leon it must be admitted that what the New Orleans press said of him is a bit too complimentary.

To say that Wright makes mistakes in the calling of balls and strikes would not be telling half the tale. He makes a mistake on practically every close one, and causes more than one hurler to go sky-high. It is also displeases the fans and when you realize the fans support the umpires, it seems a shame that they should be taxed to such work as is continually turned loose by this individual.

The press in New Orleans recently became so angered at Wright's rotten work that it announced the fans would be cautioned not to attend the ball games when Wright officiated. For such a state of affairs it is apparent that the work must have been very poor. And his work here in the past couple of series bears out the contention of the New Orleans press.

Navin Says Cobb Stays

DETROIT, Mich., June 3.—"Absolutely nothing to it," said Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit American League club, when he learned today of the Chicago rumor concerning a trade involving Ty Cobb and Hal Chase.

"The idea of such a trade is so silly that there is no use discussing it." Mr. Navin added that he is not considering any other trade with the Chicago club at present.

Wolgast to Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Ad Wolgast was signed tonight for a 20-round fight with "Red" Watson, a California lightweight, for June 20, according to the announcement of a San Francisco athletic club. The weight will be 133 pounds ringside.

Sophs Win Championship

Under the guidance of Manager Bob Clark and Captain Doc Witherington, the Sophomores have played stellar ball and won the class sweaters. They have a clean slate, not having lost a game. The secret of their success has been their peppery fighting spirit. This was the feature of all the games played by them.

The season closed Monday when the Sophs romped on the Subs. Clark and Rainey performed well in the box. Witherington, for the Sophs, and Peebles, for the Subs, played good ball.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Georgia Has a Gold Mine in the Growing of Alfalfa

IN south Georgia and middle Georgia even far better advantages are offered for the growing of this wonderful plant than in north Georgia. The mayor of Macon, Hon. John T. Moore, harvested three tons of hay off of three acres at his first cutting in April. This was planted the 29th of October on some of his poorest land, behind peanuts. He has cut it the second time and with a yield almost equal to the first. At Dekalb, Ashburn, Nashville, Kinderlou, Fort Valley, Covington, Washington, Gainesville, Barnesville, Danisboro, Albany, Waycross, Douglasville, Carrollton, Newnan, Cave Spring, Cartersville, all over Cobb county, Georgia, and Tallahassee, Gainesville and Daytona, Florida, and in fact hundreds of other places in Georgia people are successfully growing wonderful yields of this crop today, most of it planted last fall. This work has largely been brought about by the agitation in the columns of The Atlanta Journal. In and around Atlanta some as good alfalfa as can be found in California or Colorado can be seen growing on the places of W. S. Witham, J. M. Karwish, J. K. Ottley, Will N. Zimmer, Dr. Connally, Tom Saxon, L. Fulton County Reformatory, Atlanta Brewing company, Lee Worsham, the City Stockade, John W. Zuber, Dr. Jolley, Morrow Transfer company, Decatur street car barns. In fact large number of other people are successfully growing this plant. They have woke up to its possibilities and its value, and thousands are fixing to enlarge their plantings this fall. Hon. John L. Little, of Atlanta, contemplates planting fifty acres at Leesburg as he has been successful with three acres that was planted last fall. People who have never seen this plant growing will have their eyes opened if they will visit right in the heart of Atlanta the Atlanta Brewing & Ice Co.'s little patch around the front in front of their place that was planted this spring, possibly seven weeks ago. It is now knee high and will soon be ready to cut. This is an object lesson that should be seen by everyone who owns a cow, horse, hog or chickens, or has a garden or a large farm. On the corner of Harris and Courtland streets this demonstration should be worth millions of dollars to the state of Georgia and probably will be as it is only a matter of time when it will be appreciated. A few moments' walk from the heart of the city will enable anyone to see this and see how easy it can be done.

Thousands of carloads of mixed horse, cow and chicken feed are being shipped into Atlanta every month, composed largely of 60 per cent to 65 per cent ground alfalfa. It is carrying millions of dollars away from Georgia. This should be stopped and must be, and when there is scarcely an acre in Georgia but that could produce from six to ten tons of alfalfa per acre the first year if a crop of inoculated peas was planted during the month of June on the piece of land, allowed to ripen and remain on the ground with one thousand pounds of acid phosphate per acre, and cut and sell in September or October. And, by planting with twenty pounds of alfalfa seed which had been treated with Farmo germ or inoculated with alfalfa buttons which would only cost $2, $15 covering the entire cost of seed and fertilizer, behind a crop of peas will put most any acre in Georgia in shape to yield at least $150 worth of hay the first year and continue to do so for a lifetime thereafter without ever replanting again, provided it is top dressed once a year and harrowed twice a year.

Above all things, cut at the proper time which should not be until after the plant is fully in bloom and has made a nice new growth at the crowns before the crop is cut off. Alfalfa will show Georgia and the south the way to riches and prosperity and make every acre of Georgia land that has been planted to it worth from $300 to $600 per acre if the people will only take hold of this opportunity that is now presented to us. We would soon have the richest state on the globe. Not so many sections are so richly blessed as we are in this respect, and it is certainly gratifying to us to know that such opportunities are found at our door and how quickly they can be converted into riches if we would only take advantage of them. Alfalfa will make any man rich and independent in less than five years if he will plant twenty-five or more acres, and our country will be filled with horses, mules, cows, hogs and poultry. It will be a land of honey and plenty if we will only take up the growing of this wonderful plant.

Yours very truly,

Lowry Rucker

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Milner, Ga.

I have got so much valuable information through your columns of The Atlanta Journal, and if it were not for your articles in regard to poultry and live stock I don't believe The Journal would find its way into so many southern homes as it now does. I always look for your articles first, and enjoy reading them, and I hope some day that the people of the south will learn that thoroughbred stock of all lines will pay a much better profit than mere scrubs do, to say nothing of the pleasure one has while attending to something that he likes and prizes highly above just the common happy go along kind that hardly will pay for the room on the farm where there is no profit at all.

I will give my experience with some S. C. Rhode Island Red pullets which were hardly a year old in March. I kept a record of eggs gathered. I only had twenty-seven pullets in all, and five of these were set during March, and I gathered 472 eggs from the remaining twenty-two. How is this for this many, and they not a year old? I don't believe that a flock twice as large as mine of the common old speckled type would have done so well.

Please answer the following, and describe a standard S. C. R. I. Red pullet, also a cockerel. Do you think it would do any harm to set eggs in June and July just to have a few chickens to eat, or would you think best not to do so?

L. L. W.

ANSWER.

Your letter is of much interest and shows what a person can do with a few chickens if they properly attend to them, and the ones who are today making a profit out of chickens are the ones who are satisfied with a small flock and cared for that give results rather than keeping a large lot of inferior birds. The standard color for R. I. Red male birds should be a rich, brilliant red, with a greenish black tail. The wing feathers should show black also. The penciling should be even or uniform in the stiff feathers in the wing, and it should show more black than red. This black should be folded on the under side when the wing is closed. The breast, back and body should all be one uniform shade of color and free from any smut or slate. The pullets should be the same shade of color, only they show some black ticking in the neck, but this is objectionable in the males.

It is all right to hatch chickens in June and July, in fact, every month in the year, provided they are kept dry and warm, but the general conditions made suitable to their wants.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE AT AUCTION

SIX UP-TO-DATE HOMES
And 19 Ready-to-Build-on Lots
SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1913
At 3 p. m., on the Premises

THESE are 5 and 6-room houses, with every city convenience and connection, including furnace in several of the houses, but no gas as yet. These houses were built of the best material, under the personal direction of Colonel I. N. Ragsdale, who could not be induced to build a shoddy house.

These houses are real city homes, located in the social center of the Tenth Ward, and only a step from the best car service in Atlanta.

We urge you to go out and inspect this property. Each house will be plainly placarded, showing cash payment and monthly payments; also the amount of the loan to be assumed.

THESE HOUSES ARE NOW RENTED, and bring in from $18.50 to $30.00 per month. Think of what a help that will be to you, in meeting your payments, should you not be ready to occupy the house.

The houses and lots front on the following streets:

Arlington Avenue, Princess Avenue, and LaRosa Terrace.

Arlington avenue runs off of Lee Street, right at Colonel Ragsdale's handsome home. Princess avenue runs off of Avon (Oakland) avenue; between the Baptist church and Captain E. P. Ryan's fine home, giving the property two approaches, each of which is a prominent street.

THIS SECTION HAS NO OBJECTIONABLE FEATURE

It is logically the place for the people to live who are engaged in business, or who are employed among the many industrial and manufacturing and railroad enterprises around the Terminal Station, Whitehall street, Mitchell street, and Central and West Point railroads, and the adjacent territory. The car service and the way the streets run prove these statements to be true. Think about it, and you'll see it as we do.

THE LOTS ARE READY TO BUILD ON

*These are the lots to buy, either for home sites or for specula*tion, because they are ready to build on. In addition to this, every lot is a beauty, with nice young oak shade trees scattered over them. Also, because their location is excellent. They are only a short distance from the business center of Oakland City. Only two blocks from the City Schools, and near the churches; and the farthest lot is only two blocks from the car line; and, best of all, they are socially in the swim, and

ALL CITY IMPROVEMENTS DOWN AND PAID FOR.

THE TERMS ON THE HOUSES

Will range from $150 to $250 cash, and the payments will range from $22.50 per month to $32.50 per month, with 6 per cent simple interest. Small loan on five of the houses, to be assumed by the purchaser.

THE TERMS ON THE LOTS

are right. Every lot will be sold on terms of $50 cash, and the balance $15 per month, with only 6 per cent simple interest on the deferred payments.

HOW TO GET THERE—Take cars at the corner of Forsyth and Alabama streets, marked "East Point," "Hapeville" or "College Park." Get off at the corner Avon (Oakland) avenue. You will then be only a step from this property.

COME AND BE SURE TO BUY—You will never regret it if you do, and you will be sorry if you don't. Get plans from

Inman Circle Residence in Ansley Park and Piedmont Avenue Residence Property Change Hands—Lena and Dahlgreen Street Sales—Ponders Avenue, Capitol Avenue and Copenhill Avenue Parcels Are Sold at the Court House

A number of small sales, some of which were courthouse sales, were the features of real estate announcements on Tuesday.

Edwin L. Harling has sold for John B. Richards to S. W. Bacon, Jr., No. 93 Inman Circle, Ansley Park, for $7,250. This consists of a two-story, eight-room house on a lot 50x185.

Earle Greene, of the Thomson & Lynes agency, has sold for Mrs. Mary C. Traylor, to Dr. J. G. Heard, a bungalow, on Piedmont avenue, facing Aivary Drive, for $6,500.

A. J. and H. F. West have sold for Mrs. H. G. Klink, of Olean, N. Y., a house and lot on Lena street, near the Ashby street school, 100x190 with a new five-room cottage, for $1,600.

A. J. and H. F. West have also sold for W. J. Dawling and others, of New York, and others, eight vacant lots on Dashigren street, near Decatur car line to W. N. Bodock, and others, for $1,500.

COURTHOUSE SALES.

Forrest and George Adair sold for the estate of Mrs. Ernie Pope to Mrs. Jake H. Hirsch, Nos. 14 and 16 Ponders avenue, near Marietta street, for $4,100; terms half cash.

This property consisted of two houses renting for $59 a month, on a lot 75x100.

The same agents sold for the Lawrence Thomas estate to W. J. Davis a parcel on Capitol avenue, north of Georgia avenue, 43x209, with a small renting house on it, to W. J. Davis for $2,225, cash.

Colonel W. S. Thomson sold as administrator of an estate, to H. W. Dillin, No. 89 Copenhill avenue, a bungalow on a lot 75x200 north of Carmel avenue, for $3,050.

EAST ATLANTA PARK.

A dispatch from Washington says that Congressman William Schley Howard has introduced a bill in congress asking that the government buy 100 acres of land in East Atlanta including and adjacent to the spot where General McPherson fell, and use it as a national military park.

The dispatch did not say what particular land Congressman Howard, who is a member of the military affairs committee, had in view.

If it included the spot where General McPherson fell, it would lie in land lots 176-7 of DeKalb county, on and near McPherson and Monument avenues, in East Atlanta and would join Reynoldstown.

LEGISLATOR LONG GOES ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

State's Attack on Plea of Self-Defense Outlined at Opening of Trial

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

AIKEN, S. C., June 3.—According to prearranged schedule, the first case taken up here this morning when general sessions court began its second session was that of Hon. Huah Long, Aiken county legislator, charged with the murder at Wagener, S. C., this county, of Pickens N. Gunter, president of the Bank of Wagener, September 29, 1912.

Twenty extra veniremen were drawn yesterday, clearly with a view to facilitating the work of empaneling a jury. However, the panel was nearly exhausted before the jury was completed.

When it became known over the city that the famous case had been called, people began to flock into the court room and soon every available seat and space was taken.

Among the most interested spectators were the wife of the defendant and a sister, while further away were seated the wife and children of the deceased banker. These wept silently when the clothes of the dead man were exhibited.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning the prosecution opened, and with great seriousness of manner proceeded to establish the fact that "the deceased is now dead." They succeeded in beyond the shadow of a reasonable doubt by their first witness, E. B. Jackson, who is cashier of the bank of which the deceased was president. The witness said they had worked together in the bank for more than three years.

Clearly the prosecution considered Jackson one of its star witnesses. He testified that at Pickens Gunters' request he proceeded to draw up his last will and testament after he was wounded; that Gunter, as he expressed it, "had lost all his nerve, and looked like a man who had given up."

During that time, Gunter told him, the witness said, that as he went down the street on the evening of the homicide, he saw Long standing reading a newspaper, and that before he got directly beside Long, the latter dropped his hand toward his pocket and, with a dark look on his face, muttered some imprecation that he could not hear. He then grabbed Long, the witness said, because he thought he was going to shoot, and knocked him out into the street, falling on top of him; that Hayes Gunter came up then and pulled him away from Long, when the latter shot him twice.

The witness claimed that Pickens Gunter was unarmed at the time of the tragedy; also, that he had no knowledge of Gunter having opposed the candidacy of Long for the house of representatives.

Clearly the state is endeavoring to establish the fact that when Long fired the second, and mortal wound, there was no warranty for it, since declared several witnesses, and that Pickens Gunter was then helpless in the grasp of Hayes Gunter, a cousin, who had interfered and was pulling him off.

The prosecution interposes objections to having alleged political differences dragged into the case. So far the state's witnesses have been either connected with or related to avowed political enemies of Long.

MEATS AND FLOUR WILL REMAIN ON FREE LIST

Chairman Simmons Confers With President Wilson, Then Makes Announcement

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Chairman Simmons, of the senate finance committee, after a conference with President Wilson said he believed that when the tariff bill is ready for consideration by the Democratic caucus next week, cattle, wheat, meats and flour very probably will be on free list.

It has been reported that the subcommittee in charge of the agriculture schedule had determined to put a nominal duty on meats and flour in order to equalize them with the free listing of cattle and wheat but Mr. Simmons declared after his talk with the president that he expected both the raw material and the finished product to be free listed.

He declined to say whether the change had been made at the instance of the president or senators.

He said that the bill would be considered by the senate caucus all next week and would be reported out of committee the following week.

Immediately after his conference with the president, Chairman Simmons hurried to the capitol where the subcommittee considering the agricultural schedule was waiting.

"I am going into the meeting to move to put cattle and wheat on the free list," sai. Mr. Simmons. "I don't know what the committee will do about it."

Practically without change the wool and sugar schedules as they passed the house are expected to be recommended late this week to the senate finance committee by the snators who hav had them under consideration more than a month.

The free sugar schedule, which Senators Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, have fought so persistently, has been approved by Senator Williams' subcommittee, and the free wool schedule has been referred to Senator Stone's sub-committee.

Democratic leaders say that neither will be altered by the entire finance committee and predict that the party caucus will not make a change.

After the sub-committee heard the motion by Senator Simmons, Senator Williams stated that it would be con*sidered* and probably acted upon later today. The prevailing impression was that the committee would vote to meet the views of President Wilson and free list cattle and wheat. Senator Williams indicated he was in accord with that view.

Later it was learned that it was the president who had decided upon the free listing of raw materials as well as finished products as the best means for equalization. It was said that while the subcommittee's recommendations that the finished products be made dutiable and the raw materials free was reversed at the White House, it was only after many senators had expressed, through Chairman Simmons, their acquiescence. The decision was left to the president.

FIRE ALARM CONTRACT THROWN INTO COURT

Suit to Enjoin Payment for Fire Alarm System Filed Tuesday

A suit to set aside the contract which the city has with the Okonite company for a new fire alarm system was filed by W. W. Lowe in the superior court Tuesday. The system is almost completed.

According to the petition it is brought in behalf of the taxpayers of Atlanta and is against the Okonite company; *James G. Woodward, mayor; J. H. Gold*smith, comptroller, and T. J. Peeples, city treasurer. It seeks to enjoin the city from making any payments and to enjoin the Okonite company from continuing its work, etc.

The petition is almost a repetition of a similar paper in the noted crematory suit.

Mayor James G. Woodward was apprised Tuesday of the fact that such a suit had been filed, and declared over the telephone that it was the first he had heard of such a thing. He also said he did not know Mr. Lowe, who filed the petition.

After October 21, 1912, the petition states, the board of firemasters rec*ommended that the city* make the contract for the installation of a fire alarm system known as the "combined automatic," semiautomatic and manual fire alarm telegraph system," which would cost the city $106,317.72. On October 31 of the same year the contract was formally signed, after being ratified by council. It istipulated that the city was to pay $5,000 in cash at the completion of the work, and $5,000 in semi-annual payments for five years, with interest at 5 per cent.

First, the legality of the contract is attacked on the grounds that the city has no right to make a contract extending over a period of five years.

Second, that the contract was in violation of the law, as it had never been submitted to a vote of the people.

Third, that the city has incurred a debt without the consent of a two-thirds vote of the people, and that the city has no authority to make a contract, which would, therefore, be illegal.

Fourth, that there was not sufficient funds in the city treasury when the contract was made to pay for the whole system.

Fifth, that while the city has not paid any money on the contract, it will unless enjoined.

It is then asked that th ecity be temporarily and permanently enjoined from carrying out the contract; that the city be temporarily and permanently enjoined from paying any money on the contract, and that the officers of the Okonite company be temporarily and permanently enjoined in further contruction of the system.

Judge Pendleton set June 14 as the date of hearing. He made no mention of any temporary injunction.

The attorneys for the petitioner are Anderson, Felder, Whitman & Dillon.

A Physician's Faith in Eckman's Alterative

"Have used Eckman's Alterative in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50, for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and I suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in it."

(Original of this physician's letter on file.) Eckman's Alterative is effective in other forms. Read what Mrs. Garvin says:

Idaho Falls, Idaho.

"Gentlemen:—I have gained twenty-two pounds since last February and my baby is in perfect health. I have been waiting since she was born to see how I would get along. I am now doing all my work, have been ever since she was four weeks old, and I am steadily gaining. I do not cough or raise anything at all, so I think I am completely cured of Lung Trouble."

(Affidavit) MRS. M. H. GARVIN.

Note—Mrs. Garvin has seven children.

(Above abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all Jacobs' drug stores and other leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, series and additional evidence.—(Advt.)

SHAKE-UP FEARED AMONG ATTACHES OF CONGRESS

With Reorganization of House, Doorkeepers, Pages, Messengers and Others Tremble

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Employes in the capitol today are on the "anxious seat," for their jobs are in jeopardy as a result of the action of the Democratic caucus yesterday.

Representative Cox, of Indiana, started the trouble by presenting a resolution proposing to open up all the patronage, comprising approximately 250 places and affecting doorkeepers, messengers, policemen, pages and a score of others, and to have immediately a distribution of these places equally among all the Democratic members of the house.

In the discussion that followed, Rep*resentative Murray, of Oklahoma*, presented a resolution which was adopted, referring the matter to a committee of three, with direction to report a plan for distributing patronage that would be fair and consistent with efficiency of service.

Mr. Murray said he wanted his share of patronage, but he believed efficiency should be the first consideration.

YOUNG BALL PLAYERS ROUTED BY POLICEMAN

Fifteen young ball players were caught in a roundup by the city police Monday night near the corner of Woodward avenue and Grant street, and then were released upon the pleadings of mothers, aunts, sisters, uncles and grandmas.

A number of complaints had been received at headquarters that a crowd of youngsters persisted in playing ball by electric light in that neighborhood, and the police were asked to break it up, as the proper owners claimed they feared that a foul tip might destroy a window pane at any moment.

A big game had just begun Monday night when Call Officers Shumate and Palmer left the police barracks, following numbers of calls from complaining citizens on Woodward avenue and Grant street.

The neighbors assisted the officers in rounding up about fifteen of the ball tossers, who were turned loose again after they had been given a severe lec*ture and made to promise* "not to do it again."

AMERICAN GIRL WEDS FRENCHMAN DEMUMM

Man Who Figured in Shooting Mystery With Mrs. Barnes Marries Miss Scoville

LONDON, June 3.—Walter DeMumm, the well known French sporting man, and Miss Florence Scoville, daughter of C. C. Scoville, of Seneca, Kas., were married at noon today in church of St. George's, Hanover Square.

The greatest interest was taken in the wedding owing to the dramatic incident which occurred last December in Paris when in the course of a struggle with Mrs. Marie Van Rensimer Barnes, an American woman, Walter de Mumm received two rather serious bullet wounds.

Mrs. Barnes afterward disappeared and Mr. de Mumm did not prosecute her. The attack on him was said to have been brought about by his announcement that he had come to bid her farewell.

Mr. L. P. Wimberly Dead

ABBEVILLE, Ga., June 3.—L. P. Wimberly, postmaster of Abbeville, Ga., died this morning. He leaves a wife and four children, besides a number of other relatives.

ELEVEN ARE INJURED IN WRECK AT JACKSONVILLE

Two Local Trains Clash Near City—Both Locomotives Demolished

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 3.—Eleven persons were injured today in a collision between two local trains on the Seaboard Air Line at Millerton, Fla., thirteen miles from this city. Both locomotives were demolished. The trains crashed on a switch, which, it is said, had been left open.

JESSE MERCER RUSHES TO HELP OF ANGLERS

WAYCROSS, Ga., June 3.—State Fish and Game Commissioner Jesse Mercer was in Waycross today en route to Hickox, southeast of this city, to investigate protests that have been made by *citizens of that place against a turpen*tine plant. It is claimed that the waste water from the plant has so polluted Buffalo creek and the Satilla river into which it flows, that all fish have been killed and residents in their petition to the commissioner declared that unless some steps are taken to stop the plant using the creek, fishing in that section will be forever ruined. It is intimated that the turpentine plant will be sued as a lot of cattle have died from drinking the polluted water.

Mr. Mercer did not state what course he would pursue, but will make a careful investigation.

METCALFE IS NAMED GOVERNOR OF PANAMA

Editor of Bryan's Commoner Selected as Civil Governor for Canal Zone

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Richard L. Metcalfe, of Lincoln, Neb., editor of the Commoner, was today selected by President Wilson to be civil governor of the Panama canal zone. This was announced by Secretary Garrison after he and Secretaries Bryan and Daniels had conferred with the president.

Although Mr. Metcalfe was first recommended by Secretary Bryan, Secretary Daniels and Secretary Garrison joined in urging the appointment.

Mr. Metcalfe has been in newspaper work all his life, and came into national political prominence during the campaign of 1896 as spokesman for Mr. Bryan.
